U.S. Opposes Extremists in Dominican Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the aim of U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic is the establishment of a broadly based government — one that represents the people and does not include extremists. To accomplish this end, the President told a news conference Tuesday, the United States is looking to the Organization of American States while keeping in touch with Dominican leaders.

"We have no desire to insist on our particular brand of military solution or political solution," Johnson said. "We think it is an inter-American matter, and we want to cooperate fully with them (the OAS)."

The Dominican revolt and U.S. policy toward it dominated Johnson's first nationally broadcast question-and-answer session with newsmen since April 27.

The President defended his policy, including his decision to intervene with more than 21,000 Army paratroopers, airmen and Marines. He said he is bringing another 2,000 leathernecks home and cautioned that a Communist threat remains.

He touched on other matters also, saying: — He is asking Congress to authorize use of $89 million for a Southeast Asia economic and social development program.

— The recent flare-up of fighting in Viet Nam was anticipated, Washington is concerned and he will know more but it when Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returns from Saigon in the next few days.

— He plans to address the U.N. General Assembly when it meets in San Francisco June 24-26 to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the organization's founding in the city.

Again and again, though, the reporters returned Johnson to the Dominican problem. One recalled that he had said earlier this month that Communists were seizing control of the revolution and asked if he feels "the Communist threat in the Dominican Republic is now over."

Said Johnson: "No, no... the Communists did not in our judgment originate this revolution, but they joined in it and they participated in it. They were active in it, and in a good many places they were in charge of it."

"We think that following the action that this nation took... more moderate forces took leadership. The Communist elements have not been so active, although their presence is still noted hour by hour."

The 2,000 Marines Johnson is ordering home will leave about 16,000 American military personnel in the Dominican Republic. At one point U.S. forces were in excess of 21,000.

Of the OAS peace effort Johnson added: "We hope that they will be able to find agreement between the inter-American body and the folks there that will ultimately lead to an expression of opinion by the people of the Dominican Republic and ultimately lead to a broadly based government that will include none of the extremes."

Communist AA Downs 2 Navy Planes on Raid

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist anti-aircraft fire shot down two U.S. Navy planes during raids on North Viet Nam today. A rescue pilot said there was no chance the five American crewmen could have survived.

Two more Americans — an officer and an enlisted man — were reported killed in a Viet Cong triple ambush near Pleiku, 220 miles northeast of Saigon. Two American enlisted men were reported wounded, one seriously, and more than 80 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing.

The total of U.S. dead in combat in Viet Nam rose to 401. The two planes were both from the 7th Fleet carrier Midway. They were lost in an attack on a radar installation on the coast about 70 miles south of Hanoi.

An A4 Skyhawk with one pilot aboard plunged into the sea about a mile off the coast. No parachute was observed.

A few minutes later a second plane — a modified A1 Skyraider with four crewmen aboard — was hit and crashed about half a mile inland, a military spokesman said. It had been diverted to the rear to search for the plane downed at sea.

There was no report of results of the raid on the radar installation.

It was the heaviest loss of American air crews since the raids on North Viet Nam began in February.

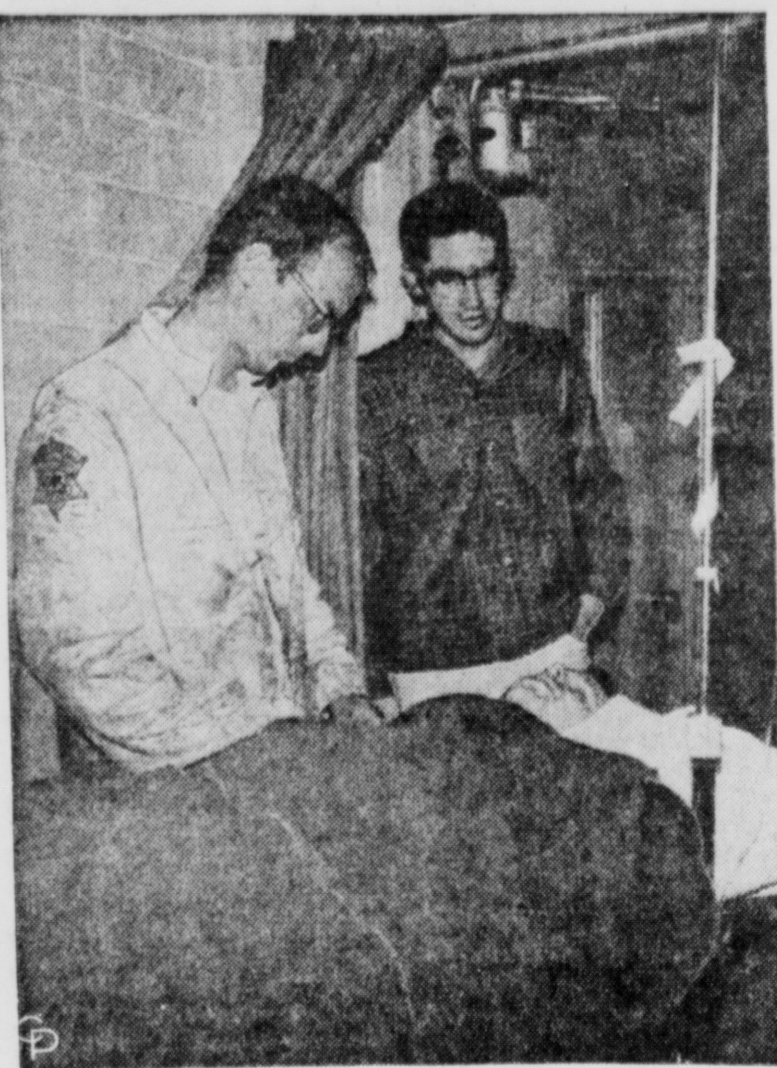

In other strikes against North Viet Nam today:

Five Skyraiders from the Midway reported knocking down a span of a bridge about 65 miles south of Vinh.

Four Skyhawks from the Midway reported destroying two boxcars, battering the approach to a concrete bridge and damaging a wooden bridge 55 miles south of Thanh Hoa.

Four Thunderchiefs destroyed a ferry landing and a barge and damaged three railroad cars at Vinh Kh.

In the ground war, the Viet Cong inflicted heavy losses on government forces in a triple ambush after the guerrillas overran a district headquarters near Pleiku. But U.S. paratroopers in another action Tuesday night turned the tables on the Viet Cong and ambushed them, killing four.

Oswald Widow Is Married To Electronics Expert

FATE, Tex. (AP) — Marina Oswald, widow of President John F. Kennedy's assassin, and an electronics technician she met a month ago began married life today in a white brick house on a quiet street in a Dallas suburb.

Mrs. Oswald, 23, a pretty, Russian-born blonde, and Kenneth J. Porter, 27, a divorced father of two, were married in this small North Texas farming community Tuesday.

The couple was introduced a month ago at the home where Porter was staying, just two doors from Mrs. Oswald's residence in Richardson.

The marriage ceremony, performed in the office of a justice of the peace, followed a hectic day in which the couple went to Durant, Okla., for a blood test and to Sherman, Tex., for a marriage license. They avoided a three-day Texas waiting period by getting the blood tests in Oklahoma.

The wedding party, which included a best man and a woman attendant, eluded newsmen leaving Durant.

Mrs. Bill Clark, a neighbor, said the couple met shortly after Porter, a friend of her son Joe, moved into a room at the Clark house.

Mrs. Oswald apparently liked Porter from the beginning, Joe Clark related, and confided recently that she loved him. He said Porter "was crazy about" Mrs. Oswald's two young daughters but "had kept pretty quiet about their plans."

The newlyweds arrived at their home in Richardson hours after the ceremony. They allowed pictures but answered few questions from newsmen.

The bride, wearing a white dress with bows on the skirt, said she felt "wonderful—I just want to be alone with my husband."

Clark, who works with Porter at Texas Instruments, Inc., described the groom as a "hard-working, quiet, reserved type."

Wanda Avora Porter divorced Porter in January 1964, charging harsh and cruel treatment. Their children are a daughter, Wanda, 7, and a son, Connie, 4. Mrs. Porter is a data analyst for Collins Radio Co.

The new Mrs. Porter has changed noticeably since she attended the funeral of her first husband, slain just two days after he shot President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

She became active socially in recent months and was seen with escorts at Dallas night clubs. She studied English for eight weeks at the University of Michigan and then spent time in Arizona working on her life story for book publication.

She bought a small brick house in Richardson soon after Oswald was slain. Less than two months ago she moved into the three-bedroom white brick home she now occupies.

Porter was raised at Lamesa, in west Texas, and came to Dallas after serving in the Navy.

Abel took command Tuesday from David J. McDonald, president for 12 years, whom Abel defeated in a Feb. 9 election.

Cuban Stamp Carries Lincoln Quotation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A new Cuban postage stamp bearing Abraham Lincoln's picture has been noted by exiles receiving mail from home.

The 13-centavo stamp, used for mail abroad, carries the Lincoln quotation in Spanish: "You can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but not all the people all the time."

This was interpreted here as a jab by Fidel Castro at U.S. international policy.

U.S. Astronauts Set For 4 Days in Orbit Astronaut's Practice In Capsule Is Rigorous

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — When James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II climb into their Gemini 4 spacecraft Thursday for 62 laps around the world, it will be the umpteenth time they have entered the ship.

All the other times have been leading to this climactic moment. If the cramped, tiny cabin seems familiar, it should. The two spacemen have spent more time in it than they have in their own homes over the past nine months.

The two men have undergone some harrowing experiences readying for their record-breaking, four-day space journey from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

They have been locked up tight in the spacecraft and tossed overboard in rough Gulf of Mexico waters, shaken up like a milkshake on vibrators, whirled at dizzying speeds on centrifuges, pulled into the air by a speedboat to float down into icy waters at the end of a parachute.

But most of their time was spent sitting in the Gemini mission simulator, a duplicate of the spacecraft that is bolted to the floor and doesn't go anywhere.

John Van Boegel, chief of the training section at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said McDivitt and White have had more training than planned because the flight was originally scheduled for early this year.

Training started last September. Almost everything that can happen on a space flight, including the emergencies, has been practiced — not once or twice, but hundreds of times.

The two Air Force majors should be able to do every part of the mission blindfolded.

They have lifted parts of the mission out of the flight plan and rehearsed them to the point of automatic reflex.

White has gotten out and then back into the spacecraft 110 times in weightless flying, practicing for his stroll in space.

Engineers deliberately fouled up his oxygen feed in the lifeline during tests to see how he would react — not once, but 20 times.

White spent 60 hours in his space suit alone in the harsh void of a vacuum in pressure chambers. The gloves, helmet and zippers have been tested and retested by both White and McDivitt.

Backup crewmen Air Force Maj. Frank Borman and Navy Lt. Cmdr. James A. Lovell have taken the same training with the two primary crew members.

Soviet Chief Rips U.S. for Viet Action

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev predicted today, "The American aggressors will inevitably be driven out of Viet Nam."

Restating Soviet terms for a Viet Nam settlement Brezhnev said the soviet people:

"Strongly condemn the filthy piratic war of the American imperialists in Viet Nam."

"Persistently demand an end to the United States aggression against the DRV (North Viet Nam), withdrawal of American forces, evacuation of arms from the territory of South Viet Nam, (and) the granting to the Vietnamese people of a chance to settle their affairs themselves."

Brezhnev's remarks were in a message to a Communist-sponsored international trade union conference in Hanoi, North Vietnamese capital. They were carried by Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

East German Action Faces U.S. Protest

BERLIN (AP) — The United States is expected to protest against an anti-American demonstration Tuesday during which the U.S. military mission headquarters in Communist East Germany was damaged and two American flags were torn down.

A U.S. Army statement said, "East German police were present but took no effective action." The 300 demonstrators were protesting U.S. action in Viet Nam.

The U.S. protest presumably will be made to Soviet officials who are responsible for the mission's safety. The mission is accredited to the Soviet army in East Germany and occupies a villa in Potsdam outside East Berlin. The Soviets have a similar mission in West Germany.

Informed sources said the Soviets made no attempt to stop the demonstration, although the closest Soviet military barracks was less than a mile away.

The U.S. Army statement said a "flag pole was broken, two U.S. flags desecrated and U.S. vehicles overturned or damaged. All windows on the first floor were broken, the kitchen was damaged and paint splattered on the building."

CINCINNATI (AP) — Plans were announced Tuesday to convert Cincinnati's "white elephant" Union Terminal into a Center of Science and Industry.

Franklin H. White, chairman of the proposed center, said, "We plan to get into operation this fall with theater programs, science movies, lectures and demonstrations all keyed to fill specific needs of the educational community."

The terminal, built in the 1930s, is a huge structure on the West Side and has almost stood empty several years.

Space Walk Is Planned

9 a.m. Thursday Is Liftoff Hour

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The man who will float alone in the heavens Thursday, and his space buddy who will pilot him there, started the last day before flight today with good news and great expectations.

Liftoff is scheduled for 9 a.m. EST Thursday.

Command pilot James A. McDivitt said: "We've got a good spacecraft, and it looks like we're going to have a good mission. We're ready."

"We" are McDivitt and fellow Air Force Maj. Edward H. White II the man who will step out of the Gemini 4 spacecraft and waltz in weightlessness on their second orbit of the earth.

There was the chance, too, that these two rookie American astronauts would get close enough to their booster rocket on their maneuvering early orbits to enable White to touch the booster during his weightless walk.

The space agency had said earlier that they might get as close as 20 feet to the booster. But mission director Christopher C. Kraft said that "there is nothing holy about 20 feet."

Would the mission last four days as intended? Kraft said that the decision would be made sometime after the first 24 hours of flight — when the astronauts had a chance to evaluate their fuel supply for their maneuvering jets, and experts looked at the decay of the orbit.

It was a demonstration of the flexibility of the flight plan.

There was no hurry about the decision, Kraft indicated, partly because space-flight officials wanted the astronauts to recover.

Roosevelt Named Miami Beach Chief

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt, newly elected mayor of Miami Beach, says his major goal will be to wipe out the city's image as a tourist resort whose permanent residents all are pensioners. He promised federal housing for young families.

Elliott, 54, second son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, won office with a 1,400-vote plurality Tuesday in his second successful venture into politics. He was elected a Democratic national committeeman from Florida in 1964.

Roosevelt, a resident of this city of 70,000 for only two years, unseated Mayor Melvin Richard, 10,002 to 8,601. Richard had served 14 years on the City Council, the last two as mayor.

U.S. Nuclear Stockpile In Europe Grows Large

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says the U.S. nuclear stockpile in Europe will be twice its 1961 size by this time next year.

"We are now shipping such substantial amounts (of nuclear warheads) that within 12 months the stockpile will be 100 per cent greater than in 1961," McNamara told newsmen after the meeting of defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ended Tuesday.

He said in December 1961, he told the NATO ministers there were thousands of nuclear warheads on European soil.

He branded as "absolutely untrue" reports that the United States is planning to withdraw its nuclear muscle from Western Europe.

"There has been a steady increase in the stockpile over the last four years," McNamara said, adding that since January the number of nuclear weapons in Europe had increased by 10 per cent.

McNamara said the stockpile includes warheads for U.S. forces and those intended for use by Allied forces in case of war. All are in custody of U.S. troops as required by U.S. law.

The NATO meeting agreed to give further study to a U.S. proposal to share some nuclear controls with other NATO members through a committee of four or five defense ministers.

The committee presumably would include the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and one of the smaller NATO countries.

The proposal falls short of French President Charles de Gaulle's demand for a U.S.-British-French directorate for NATO. French Defense Minister Pierre Messmer said France would study the U.S. proposal attentively.

The NATO ministers again endorsed a "forward strategy" for the alliance, which means active defense of all NATO territory and precludes any sacrifice of soil in central Europe. This question is of great concern to the West Germans who are in the potential front line.

McNamara said the United States "strongly supports (filling) the forward strategy by whatever weapons are required for the defense of the soil of Western Europe."

Junta Urges Elections Soon

OAS Supervision Asked by Group

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta proposed Tuesday night that elections supervised by the Organization of American States be held as soon as possible in this divided Caribbean nation.

The junta said all "democratic parties recognized by the Central Electoral Board" should be allowed to participate in the election. This presumably would include the Dominican Revolutionary party of exiled ex-President Juan Bosch in whose name the rebellion was launched April 25.

It was not clear, however, whether the junta would allow Bosch to return from exile in Puerto Rico to be a candidate. He won the presidency overwhelmingly in a free election in 1962, but military leaders overthrew him the next year.

The junta president, Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, discussed the election proposal with U.S. Ambassador William Tapley Bennett Jr. and OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora before the announcement.

Despite opposition to Mora from both the rebels and the junta, he announced Tuesday night that he had won agreement from both sides on neutralization of the National Palace and collection of garbage in rebel territory.

The international security zone is being extended to include the battered palace, former seat of government that has been the scene of repeated cease-fire violations.

Communist AA Downs 2 Navy Planes on Raid

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist aircraft fire shot down two U.S. Navy planes during raids on North Viet Nam today. A rescue pilot said there was no chance the five American crewmen could have survived.

Two more Americans — an officer and an enlisted man — were reported killed in a Viet Cong triple ambush near Pleiku, 220 miles northeast of Saigon. Two American enlisted men were reported wounded, one seriously, and more than 80 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing.

The total of U.S. dead in combat in Viet Nam rose to 401.

The two planes were both from the 7th Fleet carrier Midway. They were lost in an attack on a radar installation on the coast about 70 miles south of Hanoi.

An A4 Skyhawk with one pilot aboard plunged into the sea about a mile off the coast. No parachute was observed.

A few minutes later a second plane — a modified A1 Skyraider with four crewmen aboard — was hit and crashed about half a mile inland, a military spokesman said. It had been diverted to the rear to search for the plane downed at sea.

There was no report of results of the raid on the radar installation.

It was the heaviest loss of American air crews since the raids on North Viet Nam began in February.

In other strikes against North Viet Nam today:

Five Skyraiders from the Midway reported knocking down a span of a bridge about 65 miles south of Vinh.

Four Skyhawks from the Midway reported destroying two boxcars, battering the approach to a concrete bridge and damaging a wooden bridge 55 miles south of Thanh Hoa.

Four Thunderchiefs destroyed a ferry landing and a barge and damaged three railroad cars at Vinh Kh.

In the ground war, the Viet Cong inflicted heavy losses on government forces in a triple ambush after the guerrillas overran a district headquarters near Pleiku. But U.S. paratroopers in another action Tuesday night turned the tables on the Viet Cong and ambushed them, killing four.

State Patrol To Tighten Its Vigilance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's traffic death toll of 27 over the Memorial Day weekend led the Ohio Highway Patrol today to make plans for tightening its enforcement even more through the coming summer months.

Col. A. B. Cook, Patrol superintendent, reviewing the accident figures, said that patrolmen issued more than 5,000 citations to traffic violators during the holiday period.

This means, he said, that the number of violations observed and corrected by Patrol officers was near 2,000 each day. He said it was "regrettable" that so many persons disregarded the traffic laws despite pleas and warnings to drive carefully.

Cook said officers were able to be of assistance to more than 1,400 stranded motorists who for various reasons experienced breakdowns on their weekend trips.

Cook's summary of accidents showed that five accidents killing 11 people were caused by failure to yield the right-of-way. Four accidents killing five persons were caused by driving left of center, he said, and excessive speed accounted for six accidents killing six persons.

One pedestrian was killed. The cause of three accidents killing four persons has not been determined.

Of the 27 traffic deaths, 19 took place on the state highway stem, five on city streets and three on county roads.

Discrimination Of Whites Seen

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Negro civil rights leader says Akron's antipoverty program discriminates against whites.

Dr. Eldridge T. Sharpp Jr., chairman of the Civil Rights Committee of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Thursday that the prekindergarten program of the local poverty war is set up on the basis of de facto segregated school districts.

Speaking to the Human Relations Committee of the Akron Board of Education, Dr. Sharpp said whites are excluded from the program because eight of the nine school districts served have Negro enrollments in excess of 80 per cent.

"There has been a steady increase in the stockpile over the last four years," McNamara said, adding that since January the number of nuclear weapons in Europe had increased by 10 per cent.

McNamara said the stockpile includes warheads for U.S. forces and those intended for use by Allied forces in case of war. All are in custody of U.S. troops as required by U.S. law.

The NATO meeting agreed to give further study to a U.S. proposal to share some nuclear controls with other NATO members through a committee of four or five defense ministers.

The committee presumably would include the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and one of the smaller NATO countries.

He branded as "absolutely untrue" reports that the United States is planning to withdraw its nuclear muscle from Western Europe.

"There has been a steady increase in the stockpile over the last four years," McNamara said, adding that since January the number of nuclear weapons in Europe had increased by 10 per cent.

and rehearsed them to the point of automatic reflex.

White has gotten out and then back into the spacecraft 110 times in weightless flying, practicing in his stroll in space.

Engineers deliberately fouled up his oxygen feed in the lifeline during tests to see how he would react — not once, but 20 times.

White spent 60 hours in his space suit alone in the harsh void of a vacuum in pressure chambers. The gloves, helmet and zippers have been tested and retested by both White and McDivitt.

Backup crewmen Air Force Maj. Frank Borman and Navy Lt. Cmdr. James A. Lovell have taken the same training with the two primary crew members.

Space Walk Is Planned

9 a.m. Thursday Is Liftoff Hour

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The man who will float alone in the heavens Thursday, and his space buddy who will pilot him there, started the last day before flight today with good news and great expectations.

Liftoff is scheduled for 9 a.m. EST Thursday.

Command pilot James A. McDivitt said: "We've got a good spacecraft, and it looks like we're going to have a good mission. We're ready."

"We" are McDivitt and fellow Air Force Maj. Edward H. White II, the man who will step out of the Gemini 4 spacecraft and waltz in weightlessness on their second orbit of the earth.

There was the chance, too, that these two rookie American astronauts would get close enough to their booster rocket on their maneuvering early orbits to enable White to touch the booster during his weightless walk.

The space agency had said earlier that they might get as close as 20 feet to the booster. But mission director Christopher C. Kraft said that "there is nothing holy about 20 feet."

Would the mission last four days as intended? Kraft said that the decision would be made sometime after the first 24 hours of flight — when the astronauts had a chance to evaluate their fuel supply for their maneuvering jets, and experts looked at the decay of the orbit.

It was a demonstration of the flexibility of the flight plan.

There was no hurry about the decision, Kraft indicated, partly because space-flight officials wanted the astronauts to recover.

Russian Failure

What, if anything, Russia gained from its Luna 5 shot at the moon may never be known to more than a few Soviet scientists. There was, of course, nothing like the live televised pictures that followed Ranger to its impact in the Sea of Alphonsus.

So the world has been kept in the dark about the latest Soviet experiment, except for a few ambiguous references to the difficulty of achieving a soft landing on the moon. The speculation is that Luna 5 crashlanded, demolishing its instruments. Consequently, no more is known now than before about the nature of the moon's surface. It may not be until late this year or early in 1966 that a U. S. Surveyor will make a similar attempt. Then, if its soft landing succeeds, scientists will attempt to receive televised pictures of the spacecraft's footpads to see what sort of impression they make in the dust, gravel, rock or whatever comprises the moon's surface.

Thus the race to the moon goes on and in earnest despite Nikita Khrushchev's denial to the contrary. The Soviets just like to play coy. In that way they cover up their failures and reserve the headlines for smashing successes.

Memo from a Homesick Boy

By Hal Boyle

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — An open letter home: Dear Frances and Tracy, Well, sweet ducks, I hope you are not spending the old man into bankruptcy while I'm away and too sentimental to cut off your credit. Spend less, live more.

You may be wondering what is going on over here. So do I. When I was here 48 hours, I thought I knew for sure what the truth was here. Now that I have been here toward 49 days, I'm not so sure what is untrue.

Perhaps that is a growth toward education and is typical. In any case, I would like to find out and will continue to seek to learn what I can know.

What it seems to me that we are doing is pouring out billions of American dollars and the earnestness of, eventually, perhaps hundreds of thousands of well-trained American soldiers on the doubtful hinge of victory.

The hinge, I suspect, is whether we stay in the spending area long enough to create a middle class. Can our dollars and our soldiers and our dreams make permanence here? And that hinge, of course, is whether the Vietnamese can among themselves create a stable government that is able to achieve and reflect their national glory — and not resent our help too much.

Well, enough of politics. I suppose you may be more interested in personal things.

There is great dignity and sweetness among these people in the midst of the dire and perilous lives they live. They have time for kindness if you have, and sometimes if you haven't.

They respond immediately to a courtesy, a kindness, a smile and a help. Without being fatuous about it, I think if they can make a methodical government attentive to the people's goals then our billions spent here and our presence here will be worthwhile. Our support to their own goals of dignity won't have been wasted.

Of course, sometimes homesick men away from home fasten their dreams on the performance of an individual. To many of us at the press center here our "Miss Viet Nam" is a 13-year-old orphan we call "Little One."

She is tiny, black-haired, ready-smiling, works like a Trojan, cleaning and polishing and serving drinks. Everybody tries to teach her a new English word every day, and she blooms under our adulation like a flower responsive to a bright sun.

She makes us all feel better every day. She's our dream daughter away from home. We have plans to buy her a smart uniform, and long-term plans to raise a fund to educate her. That means our conscience to her own future will force us to lose her. We all hate to face up to that, but she shall.

Oh, I guess I started to write you about something else — but this is what I have written. I'll have to tell you later about how I've figured how to whip the enemy Viet Cong — in 12 easy years.

Your homesick husband and father, Harold.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — If the honeymoon of the Johnson administration and business fades it might well be due to government's new tool for influencing economic behavior — guidelines.

They are being applied to prices, wages, investments and banking practices. They are undergoing their first big test right now.

Guidelines join the traditional government tools of taxes, subsidies, and supervising agencies. All are used to shape the economy more or less.

Opposition to the new tool of guidelines is rising in some business and banking quarters as well as in some labor unions.

One example is in steel. Labor objects to government's saying it should ask so much and no more to avoid inflation. Management resents government saying how much it could raise wages without increasing prices. And any government censure of steel price increases brings angry replies from some steel executives.

Government guidelines as an influence on economic decisions differ from other tools in several ways. By definition they rest on voluntary compliance.

They are implemented to a large degree by exerting pressure of public opinion. And they usually carry at least an implied threat that if business doesn't follow the guidelines, government may step in and impose controls.

The moral that government hopes management and labor will grasp is that voluntary compliance to guidelines of what Washington thinks is best for the economy is preferable to controls or direct penalties.

Business takes all of the government's economic tools into account when making its decisions.

Guidelines are now in the testing stage. Those aimed at wages and prices seek price stability from two approaches: 1. Labor costs should rise only as much as output per man-hour rises; 2. Prices should rise only in industries where output per man-hour lags behind the national average and should fall in industries with greater than average productivity gains.

Compliance runs up against the natural desire of workers for higher pay and of management for tailoring prices to demand and competition as well as to production costs.

In the field of investments and banking, the government guidelines have as goals: 1. Keeping long-term interest rates low enough to inspire economic growth; 2. Keeping U.S. dollars home, both by keeping short-term interest rates high and by getting corporations voluntarily to cut back on overseas investments and inducing banks to trim foreign loans.

Here compliance has worked so far. But corporations grumble that over the long run their overseas investments would return more dollars in profits than they now cost in construction. And banks argue that much of their overseas lending is to finance American exports which strengthen the U.S. dollar more than any lending can hurt it.

LAFF-A-DAY

"What a wasted day—I couldn't find a single thing I really needed!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IT DIDN'T take the neighbors long to find out why Mrs. Randolph bopped her husband over the noggin with a Louisville Slugger. She bought herself a pair of treadsore pants and put them on to await his comment. What he said was, "They make your feet look big, too."

One of the penalties of being a celebrity is the daily receipt of about forty letters a day requesting, if not demanding, handouts for a prize assortment of grafters, free loaders, and just plain lunatics. Jack Benny received this one recently: "If you don't send me a certified check for $50,000 by return mail, I can't buy four tractors I've got an option on. And if I don't get the tractors, I'll lose my whole farm. I never miss your show on TV, and you have a kind face, so I know you'll send me the $50,000. To prove to you I'm honest, I'll be glad to send you a photograph of the four tractors."

Have they told you yet about the cook at a roadside tavern who put a giant firecracker under a platter of pancakes? He wanted to blow his stack.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We are a family of dieters. I am 50 pounds overweight. My wife and teenage daughter are both 30 pounds heavier than they should be. We try hard, and dieting seems to dominate the household. Sometimes we lose 10 pounds, only to gain it back and then some. Why can't we win the losing battle?

A.K.R. Illinois
Dear Mr. R.: The battle is not a losing one; it is a gaining one!

Yours is a problem of unwanted fat, but not sufficiently unwanted to resist binges of overeating.

How can you take it off and keep it off? First, and most important, by really wanting to. This does not mean just talking about it. It means coming to grips with your problem.

When the moment comes when you have looked at yourself, when you decide you want to look better, feel better and live longer, that is the moment when you are ready. You are ready to start your diet, a sensible one, rigid at first, more liberal as time goes on.

Then, your satisfaction will be so great, and your pattern of eating so changed it will not be too difficult to come to the really important conclusion: Your eating habits must be under control for the rest of your life.

Of course, you must first rule out any organic disorder by thorough examination. If none is present, reconcile yourself to the stark truth: YOU EAT TOO MUCH.

The rule is very simple. If you consume more calories than you body needs for fuel, you will gain weight. Your body is a storehouse that banks excess calories in the form of fat. The deposits must be smaller than your withdrawals if weight is to "get lost," and stay lost.

When the whole family goes on a weight-reducing program, successful results are more easily achieved. Each member finds out exactly what he should weigh. This becomes the target to work towards.

Meals are planned, of course, with careful counting of calories. Inexpensive little calorie booklets are easy to find. They will give you the calorie count of hundreds of food items.

When you count calories, you will choose for the most part lean meats, fish and fowl, fruits and vegetables that are low in calories, low-fat milk and dairy products.

As you total your day's ration of calories you will find no place for pastries, gravies, fried foods, nuts and sweets.

You will, however, be surprised to learn how satisfying and delicious food can be even when the calorie count is low.

Diet pills, under the supervision of your doctor, can help in the initial control of appetite. But diet pills do no more than cur' the appetite.

They can cause irritability and jumpiness that make the other members of the family overeat in sheer self-defense. Emotional upsets and overeating go hand-in-hand.

You, your wife and your daughter can help each other by not bringing out the peanuts and potato chips to tempt the fragile will of the others. The moral support you give each other can sustain your battle against obesity.

Rid the house of "nibbles," eat smaller portions, no second helpings. Watch the calorie count of between-meal snacks. The family that diets together lives together — longer!

What About Cuba?

By John Chamberlain

The cancer in the Caribbean won't be cured by holding the fort against the Communists in the Dominican Republic. It will only be cured by dealing effectively with Fidel Castro.

However, if anything is obvious, it is the fact that no frontal assault on Castro is contemplated in Washington. We have let Fidel off the hook. This column's most acute and helpful experts among the Cuban refugees have recently pulled up stakes in Miami and moved to Tulsa, Okla., which is mute testimony that they have given up hope of ever returning to Havana. Our sea blockade of Cuba isn't working; indeed, British exports alone to Havana have more than doubled in a year. And Castro, by all reports has managed to get a big sugar crop. The world price of sugar isn't good (incidentally, this is behind much of the chaos in the Dominican Republic), but Castro at least has something to barter with the Soviet Union.

If we haven't the will to deal directly with Communism in Cuba, we could still take action of a type which would signal to Cubans that we aren't entirely oblivious to their troubles. We could, for example, use our navy in an open effort to make the Caribbean safe for anti-Castro refugees in international waters twelve — or even three — miles off the Cuban shore. The current estimates in Miami are that only one out of four (10,000 out of 40,000) Cubans trying to flee from the Fidelista paradise manages to make it by water to Florida or to the outlying keys in the British Bahamas. Hopefully, the refugees set out in the flimsiest crafts, including rafts with makeshift sails. Far more often than they are tracked down by Fidel Castro's Soviet-designed Lambda-75s or smaller Russian-built vessels. These are equipped with sonar devices, radio telephones and guns, and are often directed by helicopter and serviced by big Soviet trawlers. They make an attempted escape by water from Cuba almost as dangerous as an effort to climb the Berlin Wall.

The United States entered World War I on Woodrow Wilson's Freedom of the Seas issue. If we were to revive the tradition of sea freedom, would Castro's Lambda-75s or the Soviet trawlers dare to interfere? Can you see Moscow challenging U. S. patrol boats and rescue craft if they were to establish a regular beat in international waters close to the 700-mile Cuban coast line?

The truth would seem to be that Fidel's own navy is none too trustworthy, and might easily be intimidated. Several months ago scores of officers had to be discharged from naval posts in the Cuban ports of Cienfuegos and Mariel because they were judged "politically unreliable." This was done at the insistence of Russians who were supervising naval construction at the two ports.

Castro made a speech a month or so ago boasting that there were "no traitors" among his own armed forces. But the speech followed a report from Cuban underground sources that a big conspiracy in the Cuban Army of the West had been on the verge of success in March. The Castroite G-2 got wind of this in the nick of time. On March 13 thirty officers in Pinar del Rio were jailed. There was no announcement of the averted military plot, but in April Castro said a spy ring had been uncovered, composed for the most part of Baptist ministers. And forty medical doctors were arrested in Havana.

Conspiracy in Cuba is extremely difficult because of the block-by-block security organization that is inseparable from Communist political organization. Nevertheless, there are mysterious shootings. There have been attempts on the lives of one of the Cuban economic planners, Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, and on Transport Minister Faure Chomon. ## Russian Failure

What, if anything, Russia gained from its Luna 5 shot at the moon may never be known to more than a few Soviet scientists. There was, of course, nothing like the live televised pictures that followed Ranger to its impact in the Sea of Alphonsus.

So the world has been kept in the dark about the latest Soviet experiment, except for a few ambiguous references to the difficulty of achieving a soft landing on the moon. The speculation is that Luna 5 crashlanded, demolishing its instruments. Consequently, no more is known now than before about the nature of the moon's surface. It may not be until late this year or early in 1966 that a U. S. Surveyor will make a similar attempt. Then, if its soft landing succeeds, scientists will attempt to receive televised pictures of the spacecraft's footpads to see what sort of impression they make in the dust, gravel, rock or whatever comprises the moon's surface.

Thus the race to the moon goes on and in earnest despite Nikita Khrushchev's denial to the contrary. The Soviets just like to play coy. In that way they cover up their failures and reserve the headlines for smashing successes.

Memo from a Homesick Boy

By Hal Boyle

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — An open letter home:

Dear Frances and Tracy,

Well, sweet ducks, I hope you are not spending the old man into bankruptcy while I'm away and too sentimental to cut off your credit. Spend less, live more.

You may be wondering what is going on over here. So do I. When I was here 48 hours, I thought I knew for sure what the truth was here. Now that I have been here toward 49 days, I'm not so sure what is untrue.

Perhaps that is a growth toward education and is typical. In any case, I would like to find out and will continue to seek to learn what I can know.

What it seems to me that we are doing is pouring out billions of American dollars and the earnestness of, eventually, perhaps hundreds of thousands of well-trained American soldiers on the doubtful hinge of victory.

The hinge, I suspect, is whether we stay in the spending area long enough to create a middle class. Can our dollars and our soldiers and our dreams make permanence here?

And that hinge, of course, is whether the Vietnamese can among themselves create a stable government that is able to achieve and reflect their national glory — and not resent our help too much.

Well, enough of politics. I suppose you may be more interested in personal things.

There is great dignity and sweetness among these people in the midst of the dire and perilous lives they live. They have time for kindness if you have, and sometimes if you haven't.

They respond immediately to a courtesy, a kindness, a smile and a help. Without being fatuous about it, I think if they can make a methodical government attentive to the people's goals then our billions spent here and our presence here will be worthwhile. Our support to their own goals of dignity won't have been wasted.

Of course, sometimes homesick men away from home fasten their dreams on the performance of an individual.

To many of us at the press center here our "Miss Viet Nam" is a 13-year-old orphan we call "Little One."

She is tiny, black-haired, ready-smiling, works like a Trojan, cleaning and polishing and serving drinks. Everybody tries to teach her a new English word every day, and she blooms under our adulation like a flower responsive to a bright sun.

She makes us all feel better every day. She's our dream daughter away from home. We have plans to buy her a smart uniform, and long-term plans to raise a fund to educate her. That means our conscience to her own future will force us to lose her. We all hate to face up to that, but we shall.

Oh, I guess I started to write you about something else — but this is what I have written. I'll have to tell you later about how I've figured how to whip the enemy Viet Cong — in 12 easy years.

Your homesick husband and father, Harold.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — If the honeymoon of the Johnson administration and business fades it might well be due to government's new tool for influencing economic behavior — guidelines.

They are being applied to prices, wages, investments and banking practices. They are undergoing their first big test right now.

Guidelines join the traditional government tools of taxes, subsidies, and supervising agencies. All are used to shape the economy more or less.

Opposition to the new tool of guidelines is rising in some business and banking quarters as well as in some labor unions.

One example is in steel. Labor objects to government's saying it should ask so much and no more to avoid inflation. Management resents government saying how much it could raise wages without increasing prices. And any government censure of steel price increases brings angry replies from some steel executives.

Government guidelines as an influence on economic decisions differ from other tools in several ways. By definition they rest on voluntary compliance.

They are implemented to a large degree by exerting pressure of public opinion. And they usually carry at least an implied threat that if business doesn't follow the guidelines, government may step in and impose controls.

The moral that government hopes management and labor will grasp is that voluntary compliance to guidelines of what Washington thinks is best for the economy is preferable to controls or direct penalties.

Business takes all of the government's economic tools into account when making its decisions.

Guidelines are now in the testing stage. Those aimed at wages and prices seek price stability from two approaches: 1. Labor costs should rise only as much as output per man-hour rises; 2. Prices should rise only in industries where output per man-hour lags behind the national average and should fall in industries with greater than average productivity gains.

Compliance runs up against the natural desire of workers for higher pay and of management for tailoring prices to demand and competition as well as to production costs.

In the field of investments and banking, the government guidelines have as goals: 1. Keeping long-term interest rates low enough to inspire economic growth; 2. Keeping U.S. dollars home, both by keeping short-term interest rates high and by getting corporations voluntarily to cut back on overseas investments and inducing banks to trim foreign loans.

Here compliance has worked so far. But corporations grumble that over the long run their overseas investments would return more dollars in profits than they now cost in construction. And banks argue that much of their overseas lending is to finance American exports which strengthen the U.S. dollar more than any lending can hurt it.

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF

IT DIDN'T take the neighbors long to find out why Mrs. Randolph bopped her husband over the noggin with a Louisville Slugger. She bought herself a pair of tereador pants and put them on to await his comment. What he said was, "They make your feet look big, too."

One of the penalties of being a celebrity is the daily receipt of about forty letters a day requesting, if not demanding, handouts for a prize assortment of grafters, free loaders, and just plain lunatics. Jack Benny received this one recently: "If you don't send me a certified check for $50,000 by return mail, I can't buy four tractors I've got an option on. And if I don't get the tractors, I'll lose my whole farm. I never miss your show on TV, and you have a kind face, so I know you'll send me the $50,000. To prove to you I'm honest, I'll be glad to send you a photograph of the four tractors."

Have they told you yet about the cook at a roadside tavern who put a giant firecracker under a platter of pancakes? He wanted to blow his stack.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We are a family of dieters. I am 50 pounds overweight. My wife and teenage daughter are both 30 pounds heavier than they should be. We try hard, and dieting seems to dominate the household. Sometimes we lose 10 pounds, only to gain it back and then some. Why can't we win the losing battle?

A.K.R. Illinois Dear Mr. R.: The battle is not a losing one; it is a gaining one!

Yours is a problem of unwanted fat, but not sufficiently unwanted to resist binges of overeating.

How can you take it off and keep it off? First, and most important, by really wanting to. This does not mean just talking about it. It means coming to grips with your problem.

When the moment comes when you have looked at yourself, when you decide you want to look better, feel better and live longer, that is the moment when you are ready. You are ready to start your diet, a sensible one, rigid at first, more liberal as time goes on.

Then, your satisfaction will be so great, and your pattern of eating so changed it will not be too difficult to come to the really important conclusion: Your eating habits must be under control for the rest of your life.

Of course, you must first rule out any organic disorder by thorough examination. If none is present, reconcile yourself to the stark truth: YOU EAT TOO MUCH.

The rule is very simple. If you consume more calories than you body needs for fuel, you will gain weight. Your body is a storehouse that banks excess calories in the form of fat. The deposits must be smaller than your withdrawals if weight is to "get lost," and stay lost.

What About Cuba?

By John Chamberlain

The cancer in the Caribbean won't be cured by holding the fort against the Communists in the Dominican Republic. It will only be cured by dealing effectively with Fidel Castro.

However, if anything is obvious, it is the fact that no frontal assault on Castro is contemplated in Washington. We have let Fidel off the hook. This column's most acute and helpful experts among the Cuban refugees have recently pulled up stakes in Miami and moved to Tulsa, Okla., which is mute testimony that they have given up hope of ever returning to Havana. ## 'Piddling' Trees on Statehouse Lawn Are Both Decried, Defended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $6.6 million state project that was 11 years getting under the ground—and two more getting out of it—will be completed in a few weeks.

But while the dust of building Parking Garage settles, the dust of controversy still swirls.

The latest issue is landscaping. Two women legislators and others have protested "piddling trees and plants" were being used to cover the scars of construction on the Statehouse lawn.

Controversy is not new to the plan to build a parking garage under the Statehouse grounds in the center of downtown Columbus.

Private parking lot and garage owners began battling the idea almost as soon as it was proposed in 1952 by committee headed by Clyde McBee, then assistant manager of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce.

It took three tries to get a bill through the Legislature to permit construction.

The first bill in 1953, to lease the underground area to Columbus, failed to pass. In 1955, a bill was passed for the state to build and operate the underground parking facility. Gov. Frank Lausche vetoed this, but it passed again over his objection.

Then the Supreme Court ruled for the state to spend money this way.

In 1961 a bill meeting the constitutional test finally passed, but it was not until early 1963 that the Statehouse grounds were leveled and work on a 1,200-car garage began.

During the next year, Columbus residents grew used to seeing a gaping hole where statues and trees once had stood and those with business in the Statehouse became accustomed to snaking up long wooden walks high above the bottom of the three-story-deep crater surrounding the building on three sides.

Last November the big dig was filled and the garage opened for business.

With the coming of spring, work began to turn the bare brownness into landscape lawn. Statues were restored. Walks and plaza areas were cemented. Finally, trees and shrubs were planted.

And with the planting came the latest protest.

"We all expected trees like those that were removed," protested Rep. Clara Weisenborn, R-Montgomery, writer of a garden column for a Dayton newspaper for 23 years. "Talk about piddling petunias. Those out there are piddling trees and plants. The plants being put in are seedling plants."

Akron Mayor Plans Race for Congress

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Edward O. Erickson, 47-year-old mayor of Akron, said Tuesday night that he will oppose U.S. Rep. William H. Ayres, (R-Akron) in 1966 rather than seek a third term as mayor.

Erickson disclaimed rumors that he is resigning his post, but added that he feels he can leave the office because "I believe my administration has largely fulfilled its pledge of 1961."

Ohio Beauty Climbs In Miss U.S.A. Judging

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sue Ann Downey, representing Ohio, was one of the fifteen beauty queens named semi-finalists Tuesday night in the 1965 Miss U.S.A. Pageant.

Miss U.S.A. will be crowned Friday night. The winner will represent the United States in the Miss Universe contest in July.

"It's a mess and a disgrace," Rep. Bernice Mackenzie, D-Stark, agreed. "I wouldn't put such piddling trees in my own yard back home."

McBee, now vice president of the Columbus chamber, and Alfred P. Glenow, state public works director, think the legislators should wait until landscaping is finished before they protest.

"People have visions of what the grounds looked like before and want to see it that way again right away," Glenow said. "They ought to wait until the landscaping is done to see how it turns out."

Of the landscaping controversy, McBee said, "if there is one, it will end when the landscaping is complete."

But he added, "This will be beautiful... most beautiful capitol grounds in the country."

Glenow said the plantings were planned for the downtown area. The landscape architects, he said, selected trees that will thrive in the city and in the 12 feet of soil above the roof of the garage. They also were picked for cleanliness—so they won't drop messy pods or debris on the grounds.

Glenow added that it's too late to change the plan now anyway, because the planting season is about gone.

"FOUR Rs" NOW—Rockets have joined the other "three Rs" for modern youth. Eugene Diamond, Palos Park, Ill., literally is "getting the feel" of rocket guidance at Borg-Warner Science Hall in Chicago. On his cheek he can feel the whisper of air used to simulate the tiny jets of nitrogen that control rockets in flight.

Chemical Data Refinery Boils Down Information

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — What looks at first like many another modern office building is really a $6.8 million monument to the "knowledge explosion."

You might call it a refinery of chemical information.

It is the headquarters of Chemical Abstracts Service, which gathers data on chemistry from a worldwide pipeline, boils down the technical reports, then spews the information worldwide again.

"Our purpose in life is to find, collect and organize all the new chemical and chemical engineering information we can find, wherever it is published in the world," said Ralph O'Dette, a spokesman for the service, an agency of the American Chemical Society.

Chemical Abstracts was founded in 1907 because no one man could read all the technical journals reporting developments in chemistry.

Now, said O'Dette, no one man could read all the abstracts, about 200,000 a year.

Dedication of the new building Thursday, amid a series of scientific seminars and symposiums starting today, marks the fourth expansion since Chemical Abstracts came to Columbus from Washington in 1909.

It began in an office at Ohio State University's chemistry department.

Chemical abstracts boomed from the "knowledge explosion" after World War II. But it also helps that explosion keep booming.

As O'Dette explains it, core interest in science creates core scientists who do core research which stimulates more interest in science which leads to more scientists who do more research. "... and now you're back to us again," O'Dette said. Individuals pay $700 to $1,200 a year for the full Abstract service. Between 7,000 and 8,000 subscribers take the full service.

Chemistry is such a big field now that no one could hope to keep abreast of all its phases

New Law Seen As Aiding FBI

Lifer's Release For Trial Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has asked the Ohio Legislature to help the Federal Bureau of Investigation bring a man to trial for allegedly wounding an FBI agent.

The man, Alfred Oponowicz, is now serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary on a series of convictions including robbery of the Cleveland Trust Co. and forced entry into a vault. He entered the penitentiary last April 6.

Oponowicz, once on the FBI's 10 most wanted list, was captured by federal agents and taken to Cleveland for trial. After his sentence to the penitentiary, the FBI asked his release for trial June 8 in U.S. District Court, Cleveland, on federal charges.

However, the governor's office said Ohio law prevents release of a life-terminer, except to face charges involving a capital crime.

The governor's office asked for legislation permitting release of Oponowicz to the FBI and Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, introduced an emergency bill last Thursday to grant that authority.

U. S. District Attorney Merle McCurdy of Cleveland indicated he might file contempt action against penitentiary Warden Ernie Maxwell if Oponowicz is not turned over to federal authorities, Rhodes' office said.

John McElroy, the governor's assistant, said every effort was being made to meet the FBI request. But, he indicated that in the absence of speedy legislative action to change Ohio laws, it appeared that Oponowicz would remain in the penitentiary.

Chemical Data Refinery Boils Down Information

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — What looks at first like many another modern office building is really a $6.8 million monument to the "knowledge explosion."

You might call it a refinery of chemical information.

It is the headquarters of Chemical Abstracts Service, which gathers data on chemistry from a worldwide pipeline, boils down the technical reports, then spews the information worldwide again.

"Our purpose in life is to find, collect and organize all the new chemical and chemical engineering information we can find, wherever it is published in the world," said Ralph O'Dette, a spokesman for the service, an agency of the American Chemical Society.

Chemical Abstracts was founded in 1907 because no one man could read all the technical journals reporting developments in chemistry.

Now, said O'Dette, no one man could read all the abstracts, about 200,000 a year.

Dedication of the new building Thursday, amid a series of scientific seminars and symposiums starting today, marks the fourth expansion since Chemical Abstracts came to Columbus from Washington in 1909.

It began in an office at Ohio State University's chemistry department.

Chemical abstracts boomed from the "knowledge explosion" after World War II. But it also helps that explosion keep booming.

As O'Dette explains it, core interest in science creates core scientists who do core research which stimulates more interest in science which leads to more scientists who do more research. . . . "and now you're back to us again," O'Dette said. Individuals pay $700 to $1,200 a year for the full Abstract service. Between 7,000 and 8,000 subscribers take the full service.

Chemistry is such a big field now that no one could hope to keep abreast of all its phases

In a Cambodian village wedding, the achar cuts a symbolic lock of hair from bride and groom. Then he solemnly ties the wrists of the two together with a white cotton string. Dancing follows.

even by reading abstracts, O'Dette said. Even the definition of chemistry today, O'Dette explained, is so complex "we've got a book that covers our definition."

New Law Seen As Aiding FBI

Lifer's Release For Trial Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has asked the Ohio Legislature to help the Federal Bureau of Investigation bring a man to trial for allegedly wounding an FBI agent.

The man, Alfred Oponowicz, is now serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary on a series of convictions including robbery of the Cleveland Trust Co. and forced entry into a vault. He entered the penitentiary last April 6.

Oponowicz, once on the FBI's 10 most wanted list, was captured by federal agents and taken to Cleveland for trial. After his sentence to the penitentiary, the FBI asked his release for trial June 8 in U.S. District Court, Cleveland, on federal charges.

However, the governor's office said Ohio law prevents release of a life-terminer, except to face charges involving a capital crime.

The governor's office asked for legislation permitting release of Oponowicz to the FBI and Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, introduced an emergency bill last Thursday to grant that authority.

U. S. District Attorney Merle McCurdy of Cleveland indicated he might file contempt action against penitentiary Warden Ernie Maxwell if Oponowicz is not turned over to federal authorities, Rhodes' office said.

John McElroy, the governor's assistant, said every effort was being made to meet the FBI request. But, he indicated that in the absence of speedy legislative action to change Ohio laws, it appeared that Oponowicz would remain in the penitentiary.

'Piddling' Trees on Statehouse Lawn Are Both Decried, Defended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $6.6 million state project that was 11 years getting under the ground—and two more getting out of it—will be completed in a few weeks.

But while the dust of building Parking Garage settles, the dust of controversy still swirls.

The latest issue is landscaping.

Two women legislators and others have protested "piddling trees and plants" were being used to cover the scars of construction on the Statehouse lawn.

Controversy is not new to the plan to build a parking garage under the Statehouse grounds in the center of downtown Columbus.

Private parking lot and garage owners began battling the idea almost as soon as it was proposed in 1952 by committee headed by Clyde McBee, then assistant manager of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce.

It took three tries to get a bill through the Legislature to permit construction.

The first bill in 1953, to lease the underground area to Columbus, failed to pass. In 1955, a bill was passed for the state to build and operate the underground parking facility. Gov. Frank Lausche vetoed this, but it passed again over his objection.

Then the Supreme Court ruled for the state to spend money this way.

In 1961 a bill meeting the constitutional test finally passed, but it was not until early 1963 that the Statehouse grounds were leveled and work on a 1, 200-car garage began.

During the next year, Columbus residents grew used to seeing a gaping hole where statues and trees once had stood and those with business in the Statehouse became accustomed to snaking up long wooden walks high above the bottom of the three-story-deep crater surrounding the building on three sides.

Last November the big dig was filled and the garage opened for business.

With the coming of spring, work began to turn the bare brownness into landscape lawn. Statues were restored. Walks and plaza areas were cemented. Finally, trees and shrubs were planted.

And with the planting came the latest protest.

"We all expected trees like those that were removed," protested Rep. Clara Weisenborn, R-Montgomery, writer of a garden column for a Dayton newspaper for 23 years. "Talk about piddling petunias. Those out there are piddling trees and plants. The plants being put in are seedling plants."

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Edward O. Erickson, 47-year-old mayor of Akron, said Tuesday night that he will oppose U.S. Rep. William H. Ayres, (R-Akron) in 1966 rather than seek a third term as mayor.

Erickson disclaimed rumors that he is resigning his post, but added that he feels he can leave the office because "I believe my administration has largely fulfilled its pledge of 1961."

Ohio Beauty Climbs In Miss U.S.A. Fla. (AP)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sue Ann Downey, representing Ohio, was one of the fifteen beauty queens named semi-finalists Tuesday night in the 1965 Miss U.S.A. Pageant.

Miss U.S.A. will be crowned Friday night. The winner will represent the United States in the Miss Universe contest in July.

"It's a mess and a disgrace," Rep. Bernice MacKenzie, D-Stark, agreed. "I wouldn't put such piddling trees in my own yard back home."

McBee, now vice president of the Columbus chamber, and Alfred P. Gienow, state public works director, think the lady legislators should wait until landscaping is finished before they protest.

"People have visions of what the grounds looked like before and want to see it that way again right away," Gienow said. "They ought to wait until the landscaping is done to see how it turns out."

Of the landscaping controversy, McBee said, "if there is one, it will end when the landscaping is complete."

But he added, "This will be beautiful. . . most beautiful capital grounds in the country."

Gienow said the plantings were planned for the downtown area. The landscape architects, he said, selected trees that will thrive in the city and in the 12 feet of soil above the roof of the garage. They also were picked for cleanliness — so they won't drop messy pods or debris on the grounds.

Gienow added that it's too late to change the plan now anyway, because the planting season is about gone.

Clever Tricks
To Help Hide
Old Hemline

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

It's funny the things you remember about the books you enjoyed as a child.

My most vivid recollection of "Little Women" is that Amy, Jo, Beth and Meg spent all of their spare time turning hems.

Perhaps this point stands out because now, with two very "little women" of my own, hem-turning's practically become a full-time job. They grow faster than Jack's bean stalk and hems forever need dropping.

As any mother knows when you lower a hem the old hemline has a disagreeable way of showing itself. Either a line of discoloration marks the spot or else a stubborn crease that simply won't press out remains.

What to do about it? I've explored the subject thoroughly and have come up with a variety of ways to hide the old hemline.

You can cover it with iron-on fabric. Cut it into simple shapes — ovals are eye-appealing — press them over the old hemline and then, for a finishing touch, outline your design with rickrack.

For a really unique touch, try some fancy stitching. Place two strips of button and carpet thread in two of your favorite colors side by side over the old hemline. Using a contrasting color for sewing thread, do a zigzag stitch to cover them.

Another interesting machine-stitch trim can be achieved with pearl cotton wound on the bobbin, contrasting mercerized thread on top and top tension loosened completely.

Make three rows of stitching across the wrong side of the dress — one on the old hemline, the others 1/4 inch on either side of it.

For another trick, machine-baste twill tape 1/4 inch from both edges. Draw up to gather. Place over the old hemline and stitch along center of the ruffle, then remove basting.

Wide bias tape combines with corded piping to make still another hemline-hider. Bring folded edges of the tape together, right side out, and press. Slip raw edges of piping between folds of the tape and stitch through the layers; then stitch the top edge of the tape to the old hemline.

So that your camouflage job doesn't look like patchwork, use a touch of the hemline trim elsewhere on the dress — around a collar or sleeves or on a pocket.

The finished result will not only be a dress that's suitably long enough for its young wearer but also one that, thanks to trim, has all the novelty of something brand-new.

If you want to thicken stewed tomatoes, cream two tablespoons of butter with two tablespoons of flour and add to a pint of hot stewed tomatoes; cook and stir constantly until thickened.

Some cooks like to add a pinch of oregano to buttered green peas; good with roast lamb.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC gave Americans a briefing Tuesday night on the awesome complexities of the forthcoming four-day space mission of Gemini 4 and its two astronauts.

We saw the capsule and the men and even a demonstration of the gleaming white space suit with its blue and white decor in which astronaut Edward H. White II will take his stroll in space but quickly learned that it was not color for beauty's sake but to prevent the wearer from making a mistake in attaching various wires and hoses to the right spots. The 24-foot golden leash which will attach him to the capsule is not an American status symbol but special material to protect the lifeline.

All the detail and all the arrangements were impressive but most impressive of all were the jaunty, jolly, almost casual attitudes of White and James McDivitt who soon will embark on the greatest adventure of their lives.

CBS and ABC will broadcast their briefings tonight. CBS, which invited viewers to send in their completed "national drivers test" forms filled out while watching its special program last week reported Tuesday its mail count was over 550,000 and letters were still pouring in.

In spite of the enormous toll of lives over the Memorial Day weekend — it was hoped the program would save some lives — CBS counts the experiment a huge success and plans others along the self-test lines.

'Poppins'
Gross To Hit
$50 Million?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walt Disney picked up the telephone and asked a studio executive: "What's the latest projected gross on 'Mary Poppins'?"

Disney listened for a moment, a faint smile on his face. "Forty million, huh?" he said. "Well, we're getting right up where Sam Goldwyn said we'd be."

The movie maker put down the phone and explained: "After Sam saw 'Poppins,' he called me up to say how much he enjoyed it and how it was the kind of picture the industry should be making. He said he was going to take ads saying so. I told him he needn't, but he went ahead with full-page ads in all the trade journals."

"He also told me that the picture would bring in 50 million in rentals. I thought he was exaggerating at the time. Now I don't think so."

Why is "Mary Poppins" so successful?

Disney reasons that it was a combination of many factors, but principally the fantasy and the winning characters, as played by Julie Andrews and Dick Van Dyke.

Luxury Atwood Lodge Appears Solid Success

By KEN MCCREARY
For THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sparkling new dimension is being added to the vacationing scene in Ohio.

Saturday afternoon the Muskingum Conservancy District will formally dedicate its Atwood Lake Lodge in the wooded hill country of Carroll County in eastern Ohio.

Participating will be Gov. James Rhodes, U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays and other top officials of the state and conservancy district.

This installation represents a fresh new concept in the field of vacation, resort and convention accommodations. While many folks like to "rough it" on vacation, millions more would rather pass up the rigors of camping and rustic cabins for comfort and convenience. The Atwood Lake Lodge and its 17 vacation cottages provide such facilities.

The 104-room lodge sits atop a high hill, overlooking Atwood Lake. The lodge also features a dining room which seats 270, a heated, indoor swimming pool and several convention rooms.

The 17-year-round vacation cottages, on a pine-wooded point below the lodge, each have four bedrooms, bath and a half, modern kitchen and large living room.

Each also has a picture window overlooking the lake. Nearby a challenging 18-hole golf course rambles up, down and around hills. Atwood Lake offers good (but not sensational) fishing for most game species, power and sail boating and plenty of scenery for sightseeing.

Folks who wish can fly into the area, landing on the 12th fairway of the Atwood Lake Golf Club. There are some plans being formulated for building a new airport, but so far nothing definite.

The resort management is planning to build a modern sky slope adjacent to the lodge and to make the facility an all-year attraction.

How expensive is the luxury? Rooms in the lodge are comparable to better motels in metropolitan areas, ranging from $8 single to $15 double. Vacation cottages go for $83 per week for two persons, up to $135 per week for a party of eight.

The entire facility at Atwood Lake cost $2,215,000 with the lodge and its appointments totaling $1.9 million. The money was generated primarily from a $1.2 million bond issue floated by the Conservancy District, with another $763,000 from the federal Accelerated Public Works Funds.

Will Atwood Lake Lodge be a success? From the looks of the Memorial Day weekend the answer must be yes. With the formal dedication still a week away, over 5,000 persons crowded the area to look at the new resort.

The vacation cottages already are booked solid through Labor Day; the lodge itself is sold out on most weekends. Almost a dozen conventions already have been scheduled at the lodge during the next six months.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson seems to have added both clarity and fog to his repeated explanations on the use of American troops in the Dominican Republic.

Johnson, sensitive to criticism, acknowledged at his news conference Tuesday his awareness of criticism for his handling of the Dominican problem. But he said he'd rather be criticized for his action than not to have acted.

This was one point of criticism: since this country is a member of the inter-American system — the Organization of American States — why didn't he tell the OAS he was going to use troops before he sent them in?

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had said Johnson should have done it. Johnson seemed to answer the question Tuesday but not quite directly.

Going over ground he had covered before, he said: The United States had discussed the Dominican problem with Latin-American ambassadors and the OAS a number of times between April 24, when the revolt began, and the night of April 28, when he decided to use troops.

But nowhere did he indicate that in any of these consultations the Latin Americans were told Johnson might, or would, use troops if he thought the situation was becoming unbearable.

Johnson explained the OAS was notified immediately after he went on television to announce the use of troops but by then it was public knowledge.

In Johnson's words Tuesday this apparently was the reason: "We did not want to announce they (the troops) were on their way until they had landed for obvious security reasons."

Then the fog set in.

He said the threat of a Communist takeover in the Dominican Republic while not over less than it was and added: The Reds had been active in the revolt and "in a good many places they were in charge of it."

But in his explanation to the nation May 2 he was a lot stronger than that. Then he explained the revolution had been "taken over" by the Communists and it was in their hands. Not long after that statement, when questions began to be raised about the actual power of the Dominican Reds, U.S. officials said they were no longer in control.

Perhaps more important, in the long view, was another point on which Johnson seemed vaguer Tuesday than before.

This was when he was asked if he had laid down a "new Johnson doctrine" under which American troops would be used to prevent establishment of a Communist government anywhere in the Western Hemisphere.

He said "no" and pointed out that President John F. Kennedy, the Latin-American nations and he himself had all declared the principles of communism are incompatible with the principles of the inter-American system.

But this was repeating what he had said before and did not specifically answer the question: Would U.S. troops be used anywhere in this hemisphere to prevent Red seizure of power?

He seemed closer to answering it May 2 when he said: "We will defend our nation against all those who seek to destroy not only the United States but every free country in this hemisphere."

In this case there's an obvious reason for the vagueness: the Latin Americans do not take kindly to American intervention in their business anywhere.

By not saying the United States would intervene, he let the OAS face this: Will it set up a stand-by or permanent military force which can move in swiftly to block a Communist threat in the hemisphere, thus making American intervention unnecessary?

The OAS is not a speedy outfit. Even if the United States thought fast inter-American action against a Communist threat was necessary, the OAS might get lost in arguments and delays.

One thing seems certain: either the OAS arranges to meet a Communist grab for power in a hurry or Johnson, or any other American president, will use American troops.

A. There is some disagreement about the effects of thumbsucking but it is certainly true that the upper front teeth of a child can be thrust forward by steady pressure of the thumb. Most authorities state, however, that if the habit is broken by the fifth or sixth year the teeth tend to resume normal position. It is probably equally important to find out why the child finds it necessary to persist in the habit. Such a child is usually being subjected to undue pressure or stress and may be an early candidate for emotional disorders.

Luxury Atwood Lodge Appears Solid Success

By KEN MCCREARY
For THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sparkling new dimension is being added to the vacationing scene in Ohio.

Saturday afternoon the Muskingum Conservancy District will formally dedicate its Atwood Lake Lodge in the wooded hill country of Carroll County in eastern Ohio.

Participating will be Gov. James Rhodes, U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays and other top officials of the state and conservancy district.

This installation represents a fresh new concept in the field of vacation, resort and convention accommodations. While many folks like to "rough it" on vacation, millions more would rather pass up the rigors of camping and rustic cabins for comfort and convenience.

The 104-room lodge sits atop a high hill, overlooking Atwood Lake. The lodge also features a dining room which seats 270, a heated, indoor swimming pool and several convention rooms.

The 17-year-old vacation cottages, on a pine-wooded point below the lodge, each have four bedrooms, bath and a half, modern kitchen and large living room.

Each also has a picture window overlooking the lake.

Nearby a challenging 18-hole golf course rambles up, down and around hills. Atwood Lake offers good (but not sensational) fishing for most game species, power and sail boating and plenty of scenery for sightseeing.

Folks who wish can fly into the area, landing on the 12th fairway of the Atwood Lake Golf Club. There are some plans being formulated for building a new airport, but so far nothing definite.

The resort management is planning to build a modern sky slope adjacent to the lodge and to make the facility an all-year attraction.

How expensive is the luxury?

Rooms in the lodge are comparable to better motels in metropolitan areas, ranging from $8 single to $15 double. Vacation cottages go for $83 per week for two persons, up to $135 per week for a party of eight.

The entire facility at Atwood Lake cost $2,215,000 with the lodge and its appointments.

New Meat Inspection Law Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio would have a uniform state meat inspection service under a House-approved bill up for a vote today in the Ohio Senate.

Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, and two other senators joined Rep. Sam Landes, R-Madison, in sponsoring the measure which would set up the program in the Agriculture Department.

Operators of Ohio slaughter houses would be eligible to join in the voluntary program for a license fee of $50 a year.

Such participation would exempt them from local regulation.

The measure calls for department inspectors who would utilize permanent markings of "Ohio inspected and approved" and "Ohio inspected and condemned."

Legislation making Ohio eligible for an estimated $240 million in federal funds occupied the Senate Tuesday as the lawmakers returned from the holiday weekend and started their 20th week of work.

Approved in the Senate was a House-passed bill permitting students training under the National Economic Opportunity Act to retain from their monthly earnings the first $85 and half of anything above that amount, without deductions in federal assistance.

The measure now goes back to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments.

The Senate also approved a measure permitting members of planning commissions to serve on more than one planning commission, and to allow county, municipal, and village officials to serve on planning commissions.

Legislative action was completed on two measures with Senate passage. One would permit municipalities and counties to contract for street and highway improvements. The other allows state universities to retrain and administer student fees under scrutiny of the state auditor's office.

Adopted in the Senate was a resolution urging the Underground Parking Commission to obtain larger trees for restoration of the Statehouse lawn. The proposal resulted from complaints that trees planted thus far above the underground garage are "puny saplings."

In the House, considerable debate preceded passage of a bill by Rep. Barry Levey, R-Butler, to license those in the business of leasing automobiles.

Levey said an attorney general's opinion questioned the right of some auto dealers to engage in the business and that unsafe vehicles have been leased by some individuals.

Other House-approved bills would permit counties to contribute to symphony orchestras, transfer land for construction of Interstate 71 in Cincinnati and Cleveland, and authorize Jefferson County commissioners to transfer 20 acres to be used as the site of a county children's home.

The House completed passage of Senate bills requiring county auditors to notify school districts of changes in tax duplicates and remove the 80 per cent limit on reinsurance of insurance of individual risks by insurance companies unless approved by the superintendent of insurance.

Columbus Teachers To Get Pay Boosts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Substantial pay raises for 4,000 Columbus public school teachers, at an eventual additional annual cost of $2 million to the city, were approved by the Board of Education Tuesday.

The board approved a new formula which gives a teacher with a master's degree and 12 years of experience a maximum of $9,300 a year. That was a boost of $1,500.

Starting teachers, who also got raises, will get $5,000 with a bachelor's degree and $5,500 with a master's degree.

Night Speed Limit on 23 Is 60 MPH

The night time speed limit on Route 23 has been raised to 60 miles per hour.

The increase became effective approximately three weeks ago, according to Sgt. J. W. Pribble of the Circleville Patrol Post.

Sgt. Pribble emphasized the increased night speed limit applied only to Route 23 and to none of the two lane state highways in the county.

He also noted that not all four lane highways in the state have a 60 mile per hour night speed limit.

State traffic engineers recommend speed limits after making careful studies of travel conditions on the highways.

Reports Head Docket at C of C Meet

Committee reports headed yesterday's regular meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Two guests for the day were Eldred Parsons and William Cook. Each submitted reports.

Parsons informed the directors that a Chamber sponsored roadway at the new Owens-Illinois plant in Pickaway Twp. is nearing completion.

Parsons said it has been indicated the roadway will be completed and ready for use this month. The construction was undertaken as a Chamber goodwill project after O-I announced plans to locate here.

THE CHAMBER extended appreciation to the local D. E. Goodchild Construction Co. for assistance provided and to Parsons for his extensive efforts in planning the project.

Cook, Pickaway County Fair secretary-manager, noted that a 100 per cent business-industry participation in this year's Fair has been indicated. He said a definite program for displays has been established.

Additional reports were submitted by G. Ninde Lawson of the congressional action committee, Alden Bray of the education panel, Jack Clifton for the retail merchants, Charles Boggs on the coming Side Walk Sales event and Charles Wellman, on a fluoridation study being conducted by the safety and health committee.

Earl Palm, Chamber vice president, discussed a national cemetery that has been proposed for location in Ohio. He suggested that Pickaway County be considered as a site. The directors moved to pursue the proposal and learn more details.

President Jack Clifton reported that a revision of the informational brochure on this community is well under way. The new issue is slated for publication in the near future.

New General Motors Chief Never Went to College

DETROIT (AP) — Enrollment in correspondence school classes may jump when word gets around that General Motors' new president, James M. Roche, got a lot of his education via the mails.

Roche, 58, elected Tuesday as president of the world's largest manufacturing concern, never attended college. As a youth he supplemented his high school education with mail courses in business and commerce from a Chicago correspondence school.

His selection came as no surprise. In recent weeks of speculation about who would succeed retiring GM President John F. Gordon, Roche's name almost always was the first one mentioned.

Although two of his 38 years in the automotive business were spent as Cadillac Division's then one-man public relations department, Roche never sought personal publicity.

His modest, 1½-page official GM biography told of his birth in Elgin, Ill., and his attendance at elementary and high schools there. He took his first job with an Aurora, Ill., utility company, meanwhile undertaking correspondence school courses.

In 1927, at the age of 21, he succumbed to the lure of the auto business and joined a Chicago Cadillac branch as a statistician. A year later, he was assistant manager of the branch.

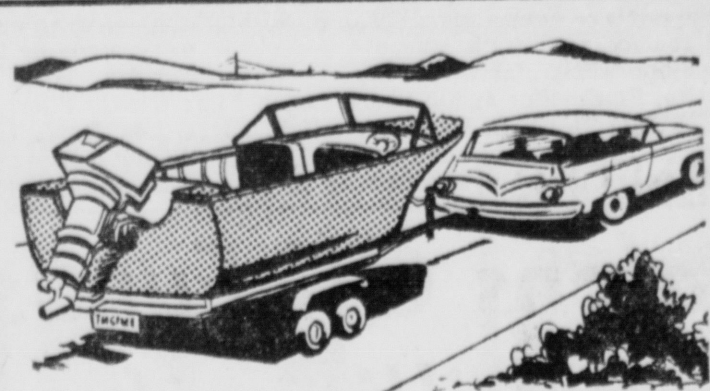

His rise in Cadillac was climaxed in 1957 when he was named as its general manager and a vice president of General Motors. After 33 years service with the Cadillac Division, he was tapped for corporate duties on June 1, 1960 — five years to the day before he became GM president.

In January 1964, he was named executive vice president, paving the way for him to succeed Gordon who reached the retirement age of 65 last month. Roche's elevation is expected to touch off a series of job reassignments in GM's top echelon in the next few months.

Tobacco production in Pennsylvania last year was about five million pounds below that of 1963.

BUTTONS GREET HOUSE PROBERS—Opening its controversial hearing into Communist influences in Chicago, the House Un-American Activities Committee was greeted by the Chicago Committee to Defend the Bill of Rights demonstrators wearing buttons like the one shown, reading, "I am not now nor have I ever been a member of H.U.A.C."

Solons OK Funds For Drilling of Second Well Here

Two appropriation ordinances were passed last night during a rather brief City Council session.

One of the measures authorized $7,500 to cover the contractual obligations for the drilling of a second well at the city's water plant. The funds will come from unappropriated monies of the Division of Water.

Diehl Pump and Supply, Inc. of Cincinnati has submitted a low bid for the drilling project. According to Ervin Leist, utilities manager, the contract probably will be awarded to this firm today.

The Diehl Co. was one of six firms bidding for the job. The new well will be designed to bolster the city's water resources. The drilling proposal was listed at $6,630, plus engineer fees, legal advertising costs and miscellaneous expenses. The next step will be actual installation of well facilities.

THE SECOND ordinance authorized $225 which will be used for payment of services provided by members of a sewer assessment equalization board. The three members will receive $75 each.

The annual problem of keeping weeds mowed was reviewed by Councilman John Jenkins. He said the City Health Department is in the process of sending letters to property owners in violation.

Mr. Hin Fights for Pride and Pay

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Mr. Hin fights for two things: pride and pay.

He is a Nung, one of the tribespeople who for centuries have fought as mercenaries in the wars of Indochina and China. They are rated in the same class as the famed Gurkhas of India.

Mr. Hin is the big chief of 600 Nungs who serve as bodyguards and strike troops in northwest South Viet Nam for the U. S. Army's Special Forces.

Their prowess is legendary among the Americans along the battlefield out here, who like them because they never panic in battle.

Most Nungs range from 4 feet 10 inches to 5 feet 3 inches in height and from 90 to 120 pounds in weight. They are paid an average of 2,500 piasters a month — about $34.

Mr. Hin is a giant Nung. He stands about 6 feet, very erect and keen eyed. As sergeant major — the highest rating a Nung is allowed to reach — he gets 6,000 piasters a month, or about $82.

"I don't know how the other Nungs picked Mr. Hin, but he seems to serve also as their spiritual leader," said Maj. Richard I. Allen Jr., Miami, Fla., a Special Forces officer now on his second year of voluntary duty here.

"He admits to being 38. He is a good manager, very proud, and has absolute command of his men."

"When a Nung is too old or sick to continue, he'll usually tell you so himself," said Maj. Allen. "Pride won't let him do a bad job. He is then mustered out with a month's bonus pay and a letter giving his service record."

The Nungs represent a cross-section of the situation here in terms of both religion and experience. A few are Buddhists, a few Catholics, but most are Confucianists.

"We and the Australians train them in handling weapons," said Allen.

"They are traditional soldiers. They are absolutely loyal to leadership. They will do what they are told to do in the most pressing circumstances, and they will tear into anybody and anything."

"It isn't true that they cut off heads or collect ears. They just kill the enemy. They aren't sadistic. But I suppose if they were told to bring back enemy ears, they'd bring them back. They obey orders."

Ohio Turnpike Take Continues To Climb

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Turnpike revenues, which set new records virtually every month, continued to mount in May, reaching an estimated $2,410,000.

That is nearly $100,000 more than the previous high for May — $2,308,895 in 1964, the record.

"May 1965 was the 13th consecutive month in which Turnpike revenue exceeded that of the corresponding month of the previous year," Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy reported.

I-71 Slated For Thrust In Cuyahoga

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The first section of Interstate 71 in Cuyahoga County will be opened July 1, Gov. James A. Rhodes' I-71 Task Force Committee reported Tuesday.

The section, about five miles, will be between Ohio 303 and Ohio 82.

Committee chairman James W. Shocknessy said a ribbon-cutting is planned for the link of superhighway, the first thrust into Cuyahoga County where I-71 will eventually terminate in a linkup with Cleveland's freeway system.

Shocknessy termed completion of the highway section "the first real penetration into Cuyahoga County."

In other action, Shocknessy appealed to Cleveland area residents to bear with construction crews now building the Puritas tunnel. There have been complaints, he said, about noise and night work.

The expediting committee also heard that the Ohio Highway Department has corrected sign confusion in the Cincinnati area on Interstate 75, connecting briefly with Interstate 275 and eventually joining I-71 northbound.

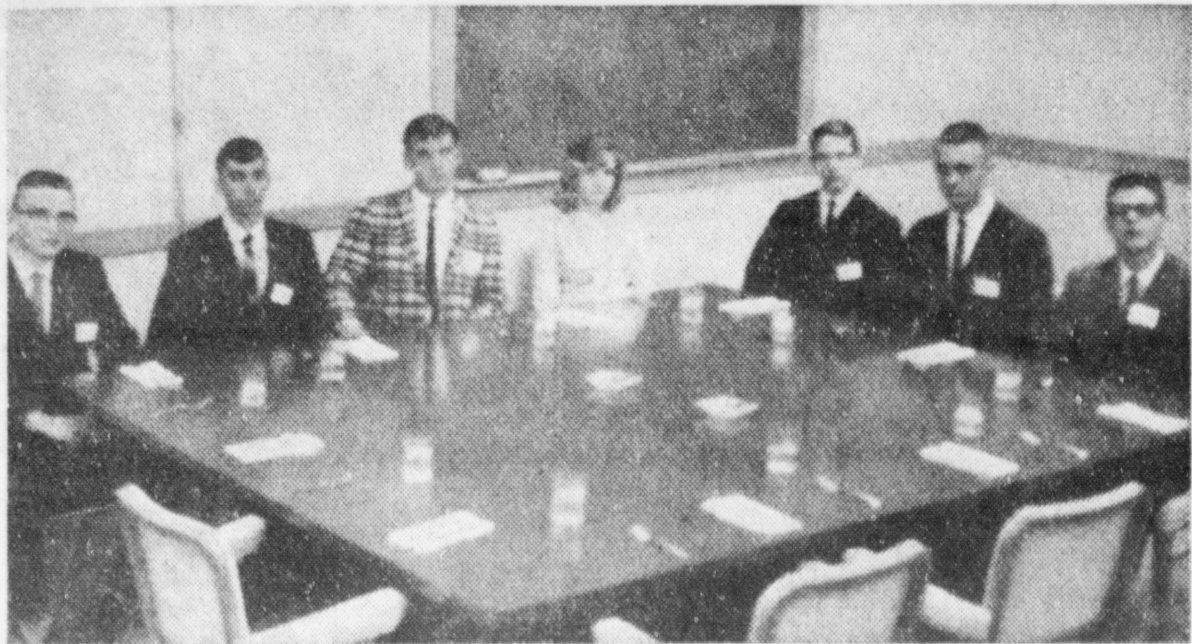

The New York chapter of the Knights of Columbia's telephone number is CO-lumbus 5-1492.

Solons OK Funds For Drilling of Second Well Here

Two appropriation ordinances were passed last night during a rather brief City Council session.

One of the measures authorized $7,500 to cover the contractual obligations for the drilling of a second well at the city's water plant. The funds will come from unappropriated monies of the Division of Water.

Diehl Pump and Supply, Inc. of Cincinnati has submitted a low bid for the drilling project. According to Ervin Leist, utilities manager, the contract probably will be awarded to this firm today.

The Diehl Co. was one of six firms bidding for the job. The new well will be drilled to bolster the city's water resources. The drilling proposal was listed at $6,630, plus engineer fees, legal advertising costs and miscellaneous expenses. The next step will be actual installation of well facilities.

THE SECOND ordinance authorized $225 which will be used for payment of services provided by members of a sewer assessment equalization board. The three members will receive $75 each.

The annual problem of keeping weeds mowed was reviewed by Councilman John Jenkins. He said the City Health Department is in the process of sending letters to property owners in violation.

Jenkins noted that railroad of-

Improper parking procedure on Mound St. also was discussed by Jenkins. According to complaints, motorists are not parking on an angle as required.

Solon Robert Turner questioned whether or not crosswalks on Main St. are legally and correctly marked. The matter was referred to the safety committee.

A communication from the Health Department requested a salary increase for full time employees of the office. The letter, submitted by Health Commissioner John Himrod asked that the hikes be included in next year's appropriation.

HIMROD requested the pay raise for employees only, but none for himself. The letter was accepted and placed on file.

Frank Barnhill, finance committee chairman, said that budget requests for the coming year are still needed from three city departments. The appropriation information was due yesterday.

Mr. Hin Fights for Pride and Pay

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Mr. Hin fights for two things: pride and pay.

He is a Nung, one of the tribespeople who for centuries have fought as mercenaries in the wars of Indochina and China. They are rated in the same class as the famed Gurkhas of India.

Mr. Hin is the big chief of 600 Nungs who serve as bodyguards and strike troops in northwest South Viet Nam for the U. S. Army's Special Forces.

Their prowess is legendary among the Americans along the battlefield out here, who like them because they never panic in battle.

Most Nungs range from 4 feet 10 inches to 5 feet 3 inches in height and from 90 to 120 pounds in weight. They are paid an average of 2,500 piasters a month—about $34.

Mr. Hin is a giant Nung. He stands about 6 feet, very erect and keen eyed. As sergeant major—the highest rating a Nung is allowed to reach—he gets 6,000 piasters a month, or about $82.

"I don't know how the other Nungs picked Mr. Hin, but he seems to serve also as their spiritual leader," said Maj. Richard I. Allen Jr., Miami, Fla., a Special Forces officer now on his second year of voluntary duty here.

"He admits to being 38. He is a good manager, very proud, and has absolute command of his men."

"When a Nung is too old or sick to continue, he'll usually tell you so himself," said Maj. Allen. "Pride won't let him do a bad job. He is then mustered out with a month's bonus pay and a letter giving his service record."

The Nungs represent a cross-section of the situation here in terms of both religion and experience. A few are Buddhists, a few Catholics, but most are Confucianists.

"We and the Australians train them in handling weapons," said Allen.

"They are traditional soldiers. They are absolutely loyal to leadership. They will do what they are told to do in the most pressing circumstances, and they will tear into anybody and anything."

"It isn't true that they cut off heads or collect ears. They just kill the enemy. They aren't sadistic. But I suppose if they were told to bring back enemy ears, they'd bring them back. They obey orders."

Ohio Turnpike Take Continues To Climb

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Turnpike revenues, which set new records virtually every month, continued to mount in May, reaching an estimate of $2,410,000.

That is nearly $100,000 more than the previous high for May—$2,308,895 in 1964, the record.

"May 1965 was the 13th consecutive month in which Turnpike revenue exceeded that of the corresponding month of the previous year," Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy reported.

Ohio State University supervised the sampling, weighing and testing operations in cooperation with the Holstein organization's herd and breed improvement programs.

BG Biologist
To Continue
Rat Study

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green University biologist Dr. William B. Jackson has received a grant of nearly $10,000 from the Atomic Energy Commission to support a study of the rat population in the South Pacific atoll of Eniwetok this summer.

Jackson will be accompanied on the two-month expedition by Bowling Green graduate students Michael Fall of Port Clinton, and Michael Carpenter of Rossford.

Eniwetok, along with Bikini atoll, for 12 years were sites of nuclear test explosions which left scientists wondering if anything could ever live again on devastated islands.

One form of life that did survive is now flourishing. The atolls are teeming with rats which apparently survived the heat and blast effects in deep underground shelters. Dr. Jackson conducted the first studies of the rat population on the atolls last summer.

Woman Bank Aide
Is Sent to Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Joan Louise Green, 33, of Coshocton, was sentenced in U. S. District Court Tuesday to serve a sentence of two years in a federal reformatory on a charge of embezzling $18,360 from a Coshocton bank.

Mrs. Green, accused of embezzling the money during the 10 years she worked at the bank, had served three months in a reformatory prior to today's sentence. She was undergoing observation by the U. S. Bureau of prisons. It was the bureau's recommendation that she be given the two-year sentence.

Lima Domestic Fuss Ends in Shooting; Four Injured

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A domestic quarrel turned into a shooting spree Tuesday night that sent four persons to the hospital—including two policemen.

Officers fought it out for more than an hour with John H. Oliphant Jr. of Lima, a former mental patient who, police said, shot his wife and a taxicab driver and then barricaded himself in his home.

Oliphant finally was captured when cornered in a basement. He was not wounded but received scalp injuries when he attempted to fight with arresting officers.

Mrs. Louella Oliphant, 21, was in serious condition, and the taxi driver, Russell Sholler, 28, was listed in fair condition. She had wounds in the neck and breast, while Sholler suffered a head wound.

The wounded officers, James Wolf and Brooks Fields, were reported in good condition.

A one-year-old baby, presumably the couple's, was removed from a second-story bedroom by an Ohio Highway Patrol officer and taken to St. Rita's Hospital for treatment of tear gas shock.

Oliphant's father, John, said his son was home on a trial visit or leave from the Toledo State Hospital.

Police said the couple apparently argued and Mrs. Oliphant called a cab to leave. After the cab arrived, Oliphant allegedly shot his wife and Sholler near the front door of the home.

An ambulance arrived on the scene and Oliphant opened fire on it, hitting the vehicle several times but wounding no one.

A few minutes later more than two dozen officers of the Lima Police Department, Allen County Sheriff's Department and Ohio Highway Patrol had converged on the area and surrounded the house.

Circleville Legion Tripped in Opener

The Circleville American Legion junior baseball team dropped a 10-6 Memorial Day contest with Portsmouth.

It was the first game for the Hall-Adkins Legion nine, scheduled to begin competition in the South Central Ohio League Sunday at Greenfield.

The visiting Portsmouth unit led off with a run in the first inning, scored on an error. They added a tally in the third and exploded for six in the top of the fourth inning. The visitors cracked 11 hits off Jeff Lutz, the losing pitcher.

***
THE local team scored its six runs on six hits.

A practice has been scheduled for Thursday and Friday it was announced by team manager Chet Iery Sr.

Iery noted only 12 players were out for the team thus far. Rosters for the central district tournament must be completed by June 15, according to the manager.

Current team members are Howard Dade, Chet Iery Jr., George Coey Jr., Kenny Reese, Jeff Lutz, Dave Iery, John Butts, Chet Hill, Bill Dore, Mansil Hurlbut, Jeff Ankrom and Rick Pickering. Here is the composite schedule for all teams in the SCO Legion League:

Connecticut House Bans Pro Boxing

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay heavyweight title fight provided some of the steam Tuesday as a bill that would outlaw professional boxing in Connecticut rolled through the state House of Representatives.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

"I'm just wondering," said Rep. Benjamin F. Riva, D-Brooklyn, "how long the intelligence of the people of Connecticut can continue to be insulated by a fiasco such as took place a few days ago in Maine."

The comment was one of several — all complimentary — about Clay's first-round knockout of Liston in the bout at Lewiston, Maine, last week.

The flight was shown in Connecticut via closed-circuit television.

Toledo Pinchhitter Clouts Grand Slammer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Toledo's Mickey Harrington filled a pinch hitter's role Tuesday as if in answer to a manager's fondest dreams.

The infielder came off the bench with the bases loaded and blasted a grand slam home run over the left field fence to help Toledo defeat Jacksonville 8-6 in an International League game.

In the only other game played Rochester defeated league-leading Toronto 5-4 in 11 innings.

The average age of managers in the National League this season is 49. Casey Stengel is the oldest at 74. Six other managers are under 50.

Clark Wins Record Pot For Victory

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Scot Jimmy Clark and Italian-born Mario Andretti shared the spotlight Tuesday night at a victory dinner which carved a record pie of $628,399 from the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Clark, the 29-year-old winner from Duns, Scotland, collected $166,621, also a record, for the Lotus-Ford team. The first prize cash actually goes to the owner of the winning car, Colin Chapman of London, who makes a distribution to the driver. This usually varies from 45 to 60 per cent.

Andretti, of Nazareth, Pa., was voted Rookie-of-the-Year for his third-place finish. Balloting by a committee of newsmen and Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials gave Andretti 23 of the 24 votes cast.

He received $500, a trophy from a meat packing firm and a year's supply of meat.

Clark also received the race's Plymouth pace car, a $1,000 wardrobe, six trophies, an engraved watch and assorted other special prizes.

The 1965 purse topped last year's by $118,224. The Speedway contributed $500,493, lap prizes another $30,000 and accessory prizes $97,906.

Last year the Speedway gave $397,150 for the prizes, and winner A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex., picked up $153,650 for his car's owner.

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., runner-up in Monday's race and the 1963 champion, won $64,661, and Andretti received $42,051.

Reds OK 4-Man Pitching Setup

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Dick Sisler believes his pitchers are back on the beam, and says his best bet right now is to go with a four-man pitching rotation.

The Cincinnati Reds pilot said Tuesday his starters will be Joey Jay, Jim Maloney, Gerry Arrigo and Sammy Ellis.

"When we run into double-headers," said Sisler, "I'll use either John Tsitouris or Joe Nuxhall as swing men."

The pitching as of late has been costing the Reds' ball games, but Jay seemed to come out of his tailspin with a neat three-hitter against the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday.

Dayton Prosecutor Gets in Last Bite

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An assistant city prosecutor, Jack Duncan, showed up in court Tuesday with a bandaged finger — and a fish story.

He said his right forefinger was bitten last week by a four-pound white perch which he caught. He said he was trying to hold the fish when it bit him.

Duncan, however, got in the last bite. He ate the fish.

SIGNED FOR FUTURE—Archie Roberts, ace quarterback of the Columbia U. team, and his wife look over the Cleveland Browns' 1964 trophy during time-out from studies at the Western Reserve U. Medical school in Cleveland. Archie has signed a contract with the Browns for play in the future but meantime is pursuing his medical career, as is his wife.

Snead Aims Once More For 'Open'

NEW YORK (AP) — Slammin' Sammy Snead, winner of more than 100 tournaments but never the big one, heads an imposing list of golfing elite who will attempt to qualify next week for the 65th U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Others who must battle their way into the tournament, to be played June 17-20 over the Bellerive Country Club course in St. Louis, include former Open winners Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt and Lew Worsham; PGA Champions Denny Shute, Jack Burke Jr., Lionel Hebert, Jay Hebert, Chandler Harper, Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford, Jerry Baber, and Walter Burkemo, and two-time U.S. Amateur champion Deane Beman.

A total of 459 golfers 348 pros and 111 amateurs — will play for 119 places at 13 sectional sites next Monday and Tuesday. Survivors will join 31 exempt players, including defending champion Ken Venturi, at Bellerive's first tee Thursday, June 17.

This will mark the Open's first tournament under the relaxed format of one round a day for four days. Previously, the final two rounds were played on the last day.

Snead makes his try at the Birmingham Country Club Tuesday in Detroit, where 13 places are available to 35 shooters.

Curly Lambeau, Founder of Packers, Dies at Age 67

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau, founder of the Green Bay Packers and only coach ever to win three consecutive National Football League titles, died Tuesday, apparently of a heart attack. He was 67.

Lambeau turned Green Bay, then a town of only 37,000, into the crown capital of the NFL by guiding the Packers to the championship in 1929, 1930 and 1931. He won three more titles before ending a 31-year Packer career in 1949.

Lambeau collapsed late Tuesday while mowing a lawn at the home of a friend at Sturgeon Bay, 40 miles northeast of Green Bay. He was dead when a fire rescue squad arrived.

A pioneer in the NFL, Lambeau was credited with turning the forward pass into a potent pro weapon while coach and quarterback of the Packers in the 1920s.

He was one of 17 charter members of the National Professional Football Hall of Fame.

Lambeau compiled a 236-111-23 record at Green Bay with only three losing seasons in more than three decades. But two of them came back to back in 1948 and 1949 and he resigned early the following year in a factional feud with a younger Packer front office.

Lambeau moved to the Chicago Cardinals as coach for two years and bowed out of the NFL at the end of 1954 after three seasons as coach of the Washington Redskins.

The Packers' founder was cutting grass with a power mower when a Sturgeon Bay photographer, Herb Reynolds, approached. Lambeau told Reynolds he needed the exercise. Suddenly, Reynolds said, Lambeau paled and collapsed.

Friends and former players showered the football trailblazer with tributes Tuesday night.

"I doubt if the league would exist today without the likes of Lambeau," said George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

"His vision and foresight made the Packers and the National Football League what they are today," said Buckets Goldenberg, Green Bay restaurateur owner who played guard for Lambeau from 1933 to 1945.

The Packers were the children of a 1919 street-corner conversation between Lambeau and a friend. They were born as a semi-pro team financed by a packing house. Lambeau recruited high school friends. At the end of the first season, each player received $16.75.

Green Bay joined the American Professional Football Association in 1921. The next year, the association became the National Football League with Green Bay as a charter member.

Lambeau was quarterback for the Packers for the first decade and threw 45 passes in one game in an era when football was a ground sport.

He led giant-killing Green Bay to NFL titles again in 1936, 1939 and 1944. Green Bay, although grown to 62,000, remains by far the smallest entry in the NFL.

After five seasons at Chicago and Washington, Lambeau quit with a final victory — a 30-27 triumph for his College All-Stars over the Cleveland Browns in 1955.

Lambeau was a native of Green Bay and played college football at Notre Dame.

Funeral services were set tentatively for Saturday at Green Bay.

He is survived by one son, Donald E.; a brother, Oliver B., and a sister, Mrs. Frances Beatrice Evrard, all of Green Bay.

BASS ANGLERS — Clarence Hastings (left) and Robert Stevens landed this stringer of nine bass Monday while fishing at Hargus Lake. The total weight was 19½ pounds. The largest fish was 19½ inches long and weighed 2¼ pounds. Stevens recently landed a 6-pound lunker at the lake, matching the record for the largest bass ever taken from Hargus. Records of fish landed at the local lake are kept at the Lakeside Supply Store where this photo was snapped.

Connecticut House Bans Pro Boxing

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay heavyweight title fight provided some of the steam Tuesday as a bill that would outlaw professional boxing in Connecticut rolled through the state House of Representatives.

The bill now goes to the Senate. "I'm just wondering," said Rep. Benjamin F. Rivaia r., D-Brooklyn, "how long the intelligence of the people of Connecticut can continue to be insulated by a fiasco such as took place a few days ago in Maine."

The comment was one of several — all uncomplimentary — about Clay's first-round knockout of Liston in the bout at Lewiston, Maine, last week.

The flight was shown in Connecticut via closed-circuit television.

Toledo Pinchhitter Clouts Grand Slammer
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toledo's Mickey Harrington filled a pinch hitter's role Tuesday as if in answer to a manager's fondest dreams.

The infielder came off the bench with the bases loaded and blasted a grand slam home run over the left field fence to help Toledo defeat Jacksonville 8-6 in an International League game.

In the only other game played Rochester defeated league-leading Toronto 5-4 in 11 innings.

The average age of managers in the National League this season is 49. Casey Stengel is the oldest at 74. Six other managers are under 50.

SIGNED FOR FUTURE—Archie Roberts, ace quarterback of the Columbia U. team, and his wife look over the Cleveland Browns' 1964 trophy during time-out from studies at the Western Reserve U. Medical school in Cleveland. Archie has signed a contract with the Browns for play in the future but meantime is pursuing his medical career, as is his wife.

Curly Lambeau, Founder of Packers, Dies at Age 67

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau, founder of the Green Bay Packers and only coach ever to win three consecutive National Football League titles, died Tuesday, apparently of a heart attack. He was 67.

Lambeau turned Green Bay, then a town of only 37,000, into the crown capital of the NFL by guiding the Packers to the championship in 1929, 1930 and 1931. He won three more titles before ending a 31-year Packer career in 1949.

Lambeau collapsed late Tuesday while mowing a lawn at the home of a friend at Sturgeon Bay, 40 miles northeast of Green Bay. He was dead when a fire rescue squad arrived.

A pioneer in the NFL, Lambeau was credited with turning the forward pass into a potent pro weapon while coach and quarterback of the Packers in the 1920s.

He was one of 17 charter members of the National Professional Football Hall of Fame.

Lambeau compiled a 236-111-23 record at Green Bay with only three losing seasons in more than three decades. But two of them came back to back in 1948 and 1949 and he resigned early the following year in a factional feud with a younger Packer front office.

Funeral services were set tentatively for Saturday at Green Bay.

Giant Pirate Hurler Fans 16 Phillies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If Bob Veale can strike out 16 batters when he's tired, how many can he strike out when he's fresh?

The giant Pittsburgh pitcher may get a chance to answer that question before too long, and the reply could be a major league strikeout record.

Veale fanned 16 Phillies Tuesday night as the Pirates defeated Philadelphia 4-0 for their 12th straight victory. Rain delayed the game twice for a total of two hours and five minutes.

Asked how the rain affected him, Veale said:

"It hindered me. It made me a little tired."

He was so tired he came within two of equaling the major league record of 18 strikeouts, set by Bob Feller in 1938 and tied by Sandy Koufax in 1959 and 1962.

Veale's 16 were the most in the majors this season, broke his own team record of 15 and increased his season total to 77, tying him with Don Drysdale for second place in the National League.

The 6-foot-6 left-hander, whose 250 strikeouts led the majors last season, also recorded his third shutout, matching Bob Gibson's major league-leading total, and gained his third straight complete game, all in the Pirates' winning streak.

Veale, now 5-2, has allowed only two runs in those three victories and has sliced his earned run average from 3.74 to 2.70.

He fanned power hitters Dick Stuart and Rich Allen three times each and received a standing ovation when he fanned Tony Gonzalez in the ninth inning for his 16th strikeout.

In other NL games, Milwaukee edged Houston 2-1, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1 and New York whipped Chicago 10-5. In the only American League contest, Los Angeles beat Boston 4-1.

The Pirates, in extending the longest winning streak in the majors this season, knocked out starter Art Mahaffey in the first inning, scoring two runs on singles by Bob Bailey and Bill Virdon, Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly and a single by Jerry Lynch. Only one Phillie reached third.

Consecutive home runs by Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and Mack Jones against Hal Woodeshick in the eight inning wiped out a 1-0 lead Houston took on Walt Bond's fourth-inning homer. The rally also nullified the brilliant relief hurling of Claude Raymond, who held the Braves to three singles in 5 1-3 innings.

The Cardinals stopped their five-game losing streak and San Francisco's five-game winning string behind the five-hit pitching of Ray Sadecki. St. Louis' 20-game winner of 1964 earned his second victory against four defeats.

Jim Hickman drove in four runs with two homers, leading the Mets' 15-hit barrage. His hitting helped overcome a 3-1 lead Chicago built against Warren Spahn. The Cubs battered the 44-year-old southpaw for 10 singles in 3 2-3 innings. Joe Christopher, Chuck Hiller and Roy McMillan each had three hits for New York.

George Brunet stopped the Red Sox on seven hits while Jose Cardenal recorded his second steal of home this season. Cardenal doubled in the third, moved to third as Julio Gotay scored on Albie Pearson's ground out and stole home. Gotay doubled across a run in the seventh inning.

Spunky Girl Makes Little League Team

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Carol Tobias, her blonde hair cropped short, is ready to open the season this week as possibly the only girl ever to play Little League baseball in South Carolina.

"I just like to play baseball," the spunky 12-year-old said during a recent practice break. "If they don't want girls to play Little League with boys, they ought to have a girls' Little League team."

But the Rock Hill Little League baseball commissioner has given her permission to play this year for the York County Natural Gas Authority team.

Her coach, Jimmy Cox, said Carol is a real slugger at 84 pounds and an exceptional outfielder.

"Carol came to play and she'll be playing because she's good — not because she's a girl," he said.

The daily average purse distribution at New York Racing Association tracks in 1964 was $67,899 for the 234-day season.

Terry Takes Aim At 100th Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—Maybe Ralph Terry will have more luck this time. The Indians' right-hander has tried five times to claim his 100th major league victory.

If the ex-Yankee makes it tonight against the Chicago White Sox, he'll be the eighth active American League pitcher to gain the century mark. Others are Robin Roberts, Harvey Haddix and Milt Pappas of Baltimore; Whitey Ford and Pedro Ramos of New York; Camilo Pascual of Minnesota; Hoyt Wilhelm of Chicago and the Indians' Dick Donovan.

Joe Horlen of the White Sox will provide the opposition tonight in the finale of a three-game series with the Sox.

Jockey Johnny Longden has won the Hollywood Derby five times. He first won it with Busher in 1945. He won the 1964 race with Real Good Deal. He has been second in the race four times.

If Bob Veale can strike out 16 batters when he's tired, how many can he strike out when he's fresh?

The giant Pittsburgh pitcher may get a chance to answer that question before too long, and the reply could be a major league strikeout record.

Veale fanned 16 Phillies Tuesday night as the Pirates defeated Philadelphia 4-0 for their 12th straight victory. Rain delayed the game twice for a total of two hours and five minutes.

Asked how the rain affected him, Veale said:

"It hindered me. It made me a little tired."

He was so tired he came within two of equaling the major league record of 18 strikeouts, set by Bob Feller in 1938 and tied by Sandy Koufax in 1959 and 1962.

Veale's 16 were the most in the majors this season, broke his own team record of 15 and increased his season total to 77, tying him with Don Drysdale for second place in the National League.

The 6-foot-6 left-hander, whose 250 strikeouts led the majors last season, also recorded his third shutout, matching Bob Gibson's major league-leading total, and gained his third straight complete game, all in the Pirates' winning streak.

Veale, now 5-2, has allowed only two runs in those three victories and has sliced his earned run average from 3.74 to 2.70.

He fanned power hitters Dick Stuart and Rich Allen three times each and received a standing ovation when he fanned Tony Gonzalez in the ninth inning for his 16th strikeout.

In other NL games, Milwaukee edged Houston 2-1, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1 and New York whipped Chicago 10-5. In the only American League contest, Los Angeles beat Boston 4-1.

The Pirates, in extending the longest winning streak in the majors this season, knocked out starter Art Mahaffey in the first inning, scoring two runs on singles by Bob Bailey and Bill Virdon, Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly and a single by Jerry Lynch. Only one Phillie reached third.

Consecutive home runs by Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and Mack Jones against Hal Woodeshick in the eighth inning wiped out a 1-0 lead Houston took on Walt Bond's fourth-inning homer. The rally also nullified the brilliant relief hurling of Claude Raymond, who held the Braves to three singles in 5 1-3 innings.

The Cardinals stopped their five-game losing streak and San Francisco's five-game winning string behind the five-hit pitching of Ray Sadecki. St. Louis' 30-game winner of 1964 earned his second victory against four defeats.

Jim Hickman drove in four runs with two homers, leading the Mets' 15-hit barrage. His hitting helped overcome a 3-1 lead Chicago built against Warren Spahn. The Cubs battered the 44-year-old southpaw for 10 singles in 3 2-3 innings. Joe Christopher, Chuck Hiller and Roy McMillan each had three hits for New York.

George Brunet stopped the Red Sox on seven hits while Jose Cardenal recorded his second steal of home this season. Cardenal doubled in the third, moved to third as Julio Gotay scored on Albie Pearson's ground out and stole home. Gotay doubled across a run in the seventh inning.

Spunky Girl Makes Little League Team

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Carol Tobias, her blonde hair cropped short, is ready to open the season this week as possibly the only girl ever to play Little League baseball in South Carolina.

"I just like to play baseball," the spunky 12-year-old said during a recent practice break. "If they don't want girls to play Little League with boys, they ought to have a girls' Little League team."

But the Rock Hill Little League baseball commissioner has given her permission to play this year for the York County Natural Gas Authority team.

Her coach, Jimmy Cox, said Carol is a real slugger at 84 pounds and an exceptional outfielder.

"Carol came to play and she'll be playing because she's good — not because she's a girl," he said.

The daily average purse distribution at New York Racing Association tracks in 1964 was $67,899 for the 234-day season.

Terry Takes Aim At 100th Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—Maybe Ralph Terry will have more luck this time. The Indians' right-hander has tried five times to claim his 100th major league victory.

If the ex-Yankee makes it tonight against the Chicago White Sox, he'll be the eighth active American League pitcher to gain the century mark. Others are Robin Roberts, Harvey Haddix and Milt Pappas of Baltimore; Whitey Ford and Pedro Ramos of New York; Camilo Pascual of Minnesota; Hoyt Wilhelm of Chicago and the Indians' Dick Donovan.

Joe Horlen of the White Sox will provide the opposition to night in the finale of a three-game series with the Sox.

Jockey Johnny Longden has won the Hollywood Derby five times. He first won it with Busher in 1945. He won the 1964 race with Real Good Deal. He has been second in the race four times.

News Briefs

OMAHA (AP)—District Judge Lawrence Krell ruled today that the marriage of John F. (Fritz) and Nancy Johnson is void.

Johnson is a former Omaha television announcer who was identified early this year as the missing Lawrence Bader of Akron, Ohio. He said he remembers nothing of his life as Bader and has been undergoing psychiatric treatment aimed at restoring his memory.

Bader had a wife and four children in Ohio. His attorney said that under Nebraska law the Johnson's marriage was therefore automatically void, but recommended the annulment proceedings, to clear the record.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Federal attorneys plan to end their case today against the three brothers of Vincent Deniro. The brothers of the slain Youngstown racketeer figure are charged with evading $111,020 in estate and inheritance taxes.

The trial of the brothers — Michael, 44, Frank Jr., 40, and Louis, 33 is being heard without a jury by U. S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti. It is expected to be completed by Friday.

Vince was killed in an unsolved automobile bombing in Youngstown in 1961.

The government is attempting to prove that Vince left an estate which is subject to taxation.

BOSTON (AP) — Some state employees are reported replacing one another at the Massachusetts State House by means of the state's leave-of-absence system.

Gov. John A. Volpe has ordered a full-scale inquiry into the situation because in some cases, according to the report, nobody is quite sure who is doing whose job — and for how long he has been doing it.

He said he had discovered that in one case, a state employee took a leave of absence from one job to accept another in state service and was replaced by a temporary employee, who in turn was granted a leave of absence. Later the job changed hands two more times by the same method, McCarthy said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill which would provide $3.3 billion over five years to aid economically distressed areas. It contains $775 million more than President Johnson asked.

An overwhelming 71-12 vote Tuesday sent the legislation to the House where the Public Works Committee already has completed public hearings on it. In the Senate action 54 Democrats and 17 Republicans supported and bill and 3 Democrats and 9 Republicans opposed it.

Final rehearsals are in progress this week for Saturday's Cancer Benefit Variety Show.

Local talent will be in abundance when the curtain lifts 8 p. m. at the Circleville High School Auditorium. A solid round of entertainment appears to be in the making.

The performance will be under the direction of Mrs. Joan Baughman, local dancing school instructor and proprietor. And she has a special reason for planning and directing the show, which has been fully sanctioned by the Pickaway County Chapter, American Cancer Society.

Her purpose is to repay the Cancer Society for the help extended by the organization when her husband was desperately ill with cancer. Many local individuals, groups and business firms have volunteered their services to help her reach this objective.

APPROXIMATELY 74 persons will combine their talent in staging the Variety Show. They include men and women, high school students and young dancing pupils.

Billed as one of the feature attractions is a men's chorus line. Their specialty will be a Can-Can routine.

Currently learning the intricacies of the high-stepping Can-Can this week are Paul Dunkle, David Crawford, Dr. Robert McCoy, Keith Wagner, Bob Miller, Walter Gilmore, Rev. William Huber, Hugh Lindsey and Richard Peters.

All set for a soft-shoe number is a group of ladies under the direction of Harriet Kaylor. This routine will feature the talents of Lurhita Stargell, Beverly Dahl, Donna Peters and Ann Smith.

Mrs. E. R. (Jerry) Bennett will serve as master of ceremonies. Patty Town will be at the piano.

A special selection, in the way of a show introduction, will be presented by the Triple Trio of Circleville High School. This renowned group features the talents of Miss Town, Harriet Jones, Elaine Mosley, Suzie Bennett, Melanie Brehmer, Mary Ann Yates, Christine Zehner, Linda Galion, Susan Reichelderfer and accompanist Cathy Griner.

OFFERING a contribution in the specialty line will be the Boys Octet from Logan Elm High School. This entertaining group is composed of Scott Wilson, Tom Smith, Terry Ferrell, Charles Rhodes, Danny Dahl, Mike Helwagen, Darrell Reichelderfer and Terry Moss.

Entertainment in the comedy line will be provided by the Curtain Callers of CHS. This group of aspiring young thespians, composed of Mike Lorentz, Miss Zehner, Robert Anderson and Dan Teal, will present a skit, "Fathers and Sons."

In between will be a tricky baton routine by Randy Felkey and a ballet selection featuring Cynthia Gabriel. Mrs. Baughman also will present 21 of her young students in tap and ballet selections.

There also may be an entertaining surprise in store. Word has it that a "stranger may be in town Saturday night, allegedly owning talent to burn."

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Baughman who maintains a studio on the second floor at Memorial Hall. Tickets not sold in advance will be available at the door. All proceeds will be turned over to the Cancer Society.
